Dragon in the Air: Transformation of China's Aviation Industry and Air Force ,2013-02-15 Dragon in the Air Transformation of China s Aviation Industry and Air Force is a comprehensive and multidimensional study of the air force and the emerging aviation industry in PRC The author has made a bold effort to trace the changing character of Chinese Air Force from the time of nationalists and perspicuously hunted down the history by dividing PLAAF into three distinct periods The first stage from 1949 1979 has been characterized by the early blues of PLAAF under Mao s leadership Deng then had an overbearing influence in the second stage from 1979 1993 also instrumental in initiating the process of transformation from an ancillary of PLA into an independent arm The third stage was however the defining moment which witnessed the start of modernization of PLAAF under the leadership of Jiang Zemin The author has very lucidly tried to explain the strong link between modernisation of PLAAF and the emergence of China s aviation industry and therefore divided the book in two parts While the first part of the book maintains focus on the air force and the process of modernisation the second part dwells with the evolution of the aviation industry and the changes in the organisation structure He has pointedly highlighted China s increasing defence spending and growing military capabilities resulting in China developing new aerial platforms ballistic missiles and modern firepower As a result China is enhancing strategic power projection by building capabilities to carry out air strikes reconnaissance and early warning and air and missile defence to put together a potent military force by the middle of this century      British Books ,1916      The Marine Corps Gazette ,1968      A History of Marine Attack Squadron 311 William J. aircraft Emerging Technologies and Military Doctrine Dr. Frank Barnaby, Marlies Ter Borg, 1986-06-18 Air University Periodical Index, 1955 The Rise and Fall of the Japanese Imperial Naval Air Service Peter J. Edwards, 2020-01-31 This book describes in considerable detail the people events ships and aircraft that shaped the Air Service from its origins in the late 19th century to its demise in 1945 The formative years began when a British Naval Mission was established in Japan in 1867 to advise on the development of balloons for naval purposes After the first successful flights of fixed wing aircraft in the USA and Europe the Japanese navy sent several officers to train in Europe as pilots and imported a steady stream of new models to evaluate During World War One Japan became allied with the UK and played a significant part in keeping the German fleets of ships and submarines at bay in the Pacific and Indian Oceans However in the international naval treaties that followed they felt betrayed since the number of capital ships battleships and cruisers that they were allowed was below those of the USA and the UK Aircraft carriers were not included so a program of carrier building was started and continued until World War Two At the same time they developed an aircraft industry and at the beginning of war their airplanes were comparable and in some instances superior to those of the British and Americans Much prewar experience was gained during Japans invasion of China but their continued anger with America festered and resulted in their becoming allied with Germany Italy and the Vichy France during World War Two There followed massive successful attacks on Pearl Harbor the Philippines the Southern Islands Port Darwin and New Guinea The British were decimated and the USA recoiled at the onslaught taking over a year to regroup and take the war to the Imperial Japanese forces Throughout the conflict many sea battles were fought and the name Zero became legendary When Japan eventually capitulated after the Atomic bombs were dropped the Japanese Imperial Air Service was disbanded Quest for Performance Laurence K. Loftin, 1985 This provides access to a NASA History Office publication NASA SP 468 by Laurence K Loftin Jr NASA Scientific and Technical Information Branch Washington D C 1985 It traces the technical development of the airplane since World War I It describes significant aircraft that incorporated important technical innovations and served to shape the future course of aeronautical development as well as aircraft that represented the state of the art of aeronautical technology in a particular time frame or that were very popular and produced in great numbers Primary emphasis has been placed on aircraft originating in the United States The discussion is related primarily to aircraft configuration evolution and associated aerodynamic characteristics and to a lesser extent to developments in aircraft construction and propulsion The material is presented in a manner designed to appeal to the nontechnical reader who is interested in the evolution of the airplane as well as to students of aeronautical engineering or others with an aeronautical background Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals, 1955 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record, 1923 Flying Review International Including Jane's All the World's Aircraft Supplement, 1963 Arms and Oil Thomas L. McNaugher, 2010-12-01 In 1979 after a decade of enormous increases in the price of oil U S influence in the oil

rich Persian Gulf region declined sharply Early in the year the Iranian revolution replaced the shah the principal pro American leader in the region with rulers hostile to the United States and to its remaining friends around the Gulf In December Soviet troops moved into Afghanistan bringing the Soviets closer to the Gulf and the Indian Ocean In the United States these events spurred the announcement of the Carter Doctrine and the creation of a new military command to handle Gulf crises Yet the United States established no new fighting forces and U S friends around the Gulf proved less willing than the shah of Iran to host a U S military presence Thus debate has continued about whether and how the United States can secure important interests in the Gulf region In this book Thomas L McNaugher offers a military strategy that integrates U S forces into the security framework that already exists in the region He suggests that the United States should encourage Jordan Pakistan Great Britain and others to continue their historical involvement in Gulf security especially in such areas as internal security where U S forces are no better equipped than theirs and where U S participation may undermine the legitimacy of local rulers In turn the United States should focus on protecting the oil rich states of the Arabian peninsula from external attack and on deterring further Soviet encroachment in the region These missions demand an increase in the agility rather than the size of U S forces But the more important requirement McNaugher argues is for skillfully blending U S military strategy into a diplomacy that exploits rather than needlessly upsets regional security mechanisms

Military Industry and Regional Defense Policy Timothy D. Hoyt, 2017-07-05 Military Industry and Regional Defense Policy re examines military industrialization in the developing world focusing on policy making in producer states and the impact of security perceptions on such policy making Timothy D Hoyt reassesses the role of regional state sub systems in international relations and recent historical studies of international technology and arms transfers Looking at Israel Iraq and India the three most powerful regional powers in the Cold War era he presents an expert analysis of the three sided phenomena of the regional hegemony the regional competitor and the small over achiever This new book breaks away from existing literature on military industries in the developing world which has focused on their economic and development costs and benefits These past studies have used primitive methodologies that focus on the production of complete weapons systems a misleading gauge in a world of growing international defense cooperation They have also ignored empirical evidence of the impact of local military industrial production on Cold War regional conflict and of the defence planning and concerns that drove development of indigenous military industries in key regional powers This new text delivers an incisive new perspective

The Restoration of the Army Air Corps, 1947-1953 Howard K. Butler, 1995 Taiwan In World Affairs Robert G Sutter, William Oscar
