Argentina International Monetary Fund. Western Hemisphere Dept.,2016-11-15 This paper discusses Argentina s investment rate which was well below the average of Latin American countries and that of a peer group of advanced and emerging market countries with a larger gap in private investment Raising investment prospects would be essential to boost economic activity The administration that took office in December 2015 has emphasized the importance of generating an investor friendly environment that allows Argentina to recover some of the growth opportunities lost over the last few decades Although quantifying the capital accumulation gap is a clearly a difficult task one way of doing so is to look at the difference between Argentina s capital labor ratio and that of the selected peer group of countries Argentina s investment rates and capital output ratios are also compared with estimates of their steady state values derived from standard neoclassical growth models Argentina's investment rate would need to increase significantly to eliminate the capital accumulation gap built during the last two decades and this could significantly accelerate GDP growth Fiscal Federalism and Equalization Policy in Canada Daniel Béland, André Lecours, Gregory P. Marchildon, Haizhen Mou, M. Rose Olfert, 2017-08-08 Fiscal Federalism and Equalization Policy in Canada is a concise book that aims to increase public understanding of equalization and fiscal federalism by providing a comparative and multidisciplinary perspective on the history politics and economics of equalization policy in Canada The authors provide a brief history of the equalization program a discussion of key economic debates concerning the role of that program and its effects an analysis of the politics of equalization as witnessed over the last decade and an exploration of the relationship between equalization and other components of fiscal federalism particularly the Canada Health Transfer and the Canada Social Transfer The result is an analysis of equalization that draws from the best scholarship available in the fields of economics economic history political science public policy and political sociology A National Trauma Care System National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on the Health of Select Populations, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee on Military Trauma Care's Learning Health System and Its Translation to the Civilian Sector, 2016-10-12 Advances in trauma care have accelerated over the past decade spurred by the significant burden of injury from the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq Between 2005 and 2013 the case fatality rate for United States service members injured in Afghanistan decreased by nearly 50 percent despite an increase in the severity of injury among U S troops during the same period of time But as the war in Afghanistan ends knowledge and advances in trauma care developed by the Department of Defense DoD over the past decade from experiences in Afghanistan and Iraq may be lost This would have implications for the quality of trauma care both within the DoD and in the civilian setting where adoption of military advances in trauma care has become increasingly common and necessary to improve the response to multiple civilian casualty events Intentional steps to codify and harvest the lessons learned within the military's trauma system are needed to ensure a ready military medical force for future combat and to prevent death from survivable injuries in both military and civilian systems This will require partnership across military and civilian sectors and a sustained commitment from trauma system leaders at all levels to assure that the necessary knowledge and tools are not lost A National Trauma Care System defines the components of a learning health system necessary to enable continued improvement in trauma care in both the civilian and the military sectors This report provides recommendations to ensure that lessons learned over the past decade from the military's experiences in Afghanistan and Iraq are sustained and built upon for future combat operations and translated into the U S civilian system Corporate behaviour and sustainable development Haiyue Liu, Xiaoyu Wang, Yuli Shan, Shiyang Hu, Rui Xue, 2023-05-09 Sport, Leadership, and Social Inclusion Hans Erik Næss, Mari
