Identity Construction and Science Education Research Maria Varelas, 2012-12-17 In this edited volume science education scholars engage with the constructs of identity and identity construction of learners teachers and practitioners of science Reports on empirical studies and commentaries serve to extend theoretical understandings related to identity and identity development vis vis science education link them to empirical evidence derived from a range of participants educational settings and analytic foci examine methodological issues in identity studies and project fruitful directions for research in this area Using anthropological sociological and socio cultural perspectives chapter authors depict and discuss the complexity messiness but also potential of identity work in science education and show how critical constructs such as power privilege and dominant views access and participation positionality agency structure dialectic and inequities are integrally intertwined with identity construction and trajectories Chapter authors examine issues of identity with participants ranging from first graders to pre service and in service teachers to physics doctoral students to show ways in which identity work is a vital albeit still underemphasized dimension of learning and participating in science in and out of academic institutions Moreover the research presented in this book mostly concerns students or teachers with racial ethno linguistic class academic status and gender affiliations that have been long excluded from or underrepresented in scientific practice science fields and science related professions and linked with science achievement gaps This book contributes to the growing scholarship that seeks to problematize various dominant views regarding for example what counts as science and scientific competence who does science and what resources can be fruitful for doing science Educating Everybody's Children Robert W. Cole,2008-06-15 This revised and expanded 2nd edition of Educating Everybody's Children provides educators with research proven instructional strategies to meet the varying needs of students from economically ethnically culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds Getting to the Common Core Sharon L. Spencer,Sandra Vavra,2015-01-01 The Common Core Standards have recently been adopted in most states across the nation and teachers are in the process of getting to the core of these standards Teaching to standards is not a new concept teachers have adapted to new standards every few years for quite some time And teachers are adaptable as can be seen in this book We are writing this book to demonstrate how teachers use research based strategies to meet Common Core Standards while still focusing on students Our goal is to help teachers visualize students in action as other teachers describe the implementation of research based strategies in their own classrooms show student work samples and provide reflections of student success in achieving the standards Many Common Core Standards books focus on the standards but our approach focuses on strategies that engage the students in the classroom showing how different teachers at varying grade levels have used the strategies to meet the standards With this focus we believe that teachers gain a new and positive perspective on approaching the new standards and see the flexibility of strategies for meeting standards across subject areas We have examined research on the strategies with the purpose of giving teachers a brief description of why these strategies work before giving actual examples from classrooms We also work closely with teachers in the public schools and have our finger on the pulse of what is happening in the public schools one of the current stressors being unpacking the Common Core Standards This book actually focuses on practice We begin by laying out a rationale in our first chapter The Core Value s of Education Then each chapter focuses on a strategy including 1 a brief description about the research supporting each strategy and 2 several examples from different grade levels which include a description of how the strategy was used student work samples and a reflection on the use of the strategy The research descriptions are fairly short because while we believe professional educators aka teachers in this case should know the research that supports practice we know they are not typically interested in long diatribes about the research Assessment for Reading Instruction, Second Edition Michael C.
