Guide to the drug research literature Gregory A. Austin,1979 Recognising and Supporting Able Children in Primary Schools Hilary Lee-Corbin,Pam Denicolo,2013-10-28 First Published in 1999 The purpose of this book is to raise awareness among teachers and parents about the factors which influence under achievement in able children in the primary years In the past there has been a dearth of research focused on able children of this age especially in the UK In order to fill this perceived deficit this book is based on a research project which incorporated interviews and observation in context as well as traditional testing procedures In this study therefore the views of parents teachers and children were considered and all were given voice to provide a holistic picture of the situation Catalyzing Equity Centered Change in Community Colleges Deborah L. McClellan, Kristina L. Creager, Marianna Savoca, 2023-07-03 For many students working while in college is a defining characteristic of the undergraduate experience However student workers often view campus employment as a money making opportunity rather than a chance for personal development Likewise institutions often neglect to consider campus jobs as a means to education and student engagement It is the distinction between work for remuneration and work for personal development which shapes much of the discussion of student employment throughout A Good Job This book makes the case for campus employment as a high impact practice in higher education and provides models for institutional efforts to implement new student employment strategies Carefully designed campus employment opportunities can have numerous benefits including career exploration and preparation learning and increased engagement leading to increased retention The authors make the case that employment can and should be a purposeful and powerful component in any higher education institution s efforts to support student learning development and success This book is an excellent resource for anyone interested in capitalizing on the developmental and learning potential of student employment on campus Corrosion Abstracts ,1987
