Rutvica Andrijasevic,Melissa Gregg,Marc Steinberg,Julie Yujie Chen,2021-09-14 An essential account of how the media devices we use today inherit the management practices governing factory labor This book argues that management is enabled by media forms just as media gives life to management Media technologies central to management have included the stopwatch the punch card the calculator and the camera while management theories are taught in printed and virtual textbooks and online through TED talks In each stage of the evolving relationship between workers and employers management innovations are learned through media with media formats producing fresh opportunities for management Drawing on rich historical and ethnographic case studies this book approaches key instances of the industrial and service economy the legacy of Toyotism in today s software industry labor mediators in electronics manufacturing in Central and Eastern Europe and app based food delivery platforms in China to push media and management studies in new directions Media and Management offers a provocative insight on the future of labor and media that inevitably cross geographical boundaries      Islamic Philosophy and Occidental Phenomenology in Dialogue Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka,Nazif Muhtaroglu,Detlev Quintern,2014-08-06 The contributions composed in this volume are inspired not only by the necessity but also by the potentialities of a process which continues and deepens cross cultural understanding especially between Islamic and Western philosophy Following the tradition of an East Western symphony of thoughts the authors focus on common horizons and while applying comparative and historical approaches varieties of unity appear on the ways towards a New Enlightenment The creative force orchestrating the harmony in the web of Life communicates in the mean time with the capacities of human beings advancing in deciphering its micro macrocosmic dimensions Here the encounter of the Logos of Life Philosophy A T Tymieniecka and Islamic Philosophy open the space for constructive disputation In the wake of the crisis of postmodern unknowability paths towards a new critique of reason go hand in hand with fundamental issues being reflected newly      Rethinking Greenland and the Arctic in the Era of Climate Change Frank Sejersen,2015-06-05 This ground breaking book investigates how Arctic indigenous communities deal with the challenges of climate change and how they strive to develop self determination Adopting an anthropological focus on Greenland s vision to boost extractive industries and transform society the book examines how indigenous communities engage with climate change and development discourses It applies a critical and comparative approach integrating both local perspectives and adaptation research from Canada and Greenland to make the case for recasting the way the Arctic and Inuit are approached conceptually and politically The emphasis on indigenous peoples as future makers and right holders paves the way for a new understanding of the concept of indigenous knowledge and a more sensitive appreciation of predicaments and dynamics in the Arctic This book will be of interest to post graduate students and researchers in environmental studies development studies and area studies      Rural development Kristof Van Assche,Anna-Katharina Hornidge,2023-09-04 This book offers a unique perspective on rural development by discussing the most influential perspectives and rendering their risks and benefits visible. The authors do not present a silver bullet. Rather they give students, researchers, community leaders, politicians, concerned citizens and development organizations the conceptual tools to understand how things are organized now, which development path has already been taken and how things could possibly move in a different direction. Van Assche and Hornidge pay special attention to the different roles of knowledge in rural development: both expert knowledge in various guises and local knowledge. Crafting development strategies requires understanding how new knowledge can fit in and work out in governance. Drawing on experiences in five continents, the authors develop a theoretical framework which elucidates how modes of governance and rural development are inextricably tied. A community is much better placed to choose direction when it understands these ties.
