Writing in Film Studies, from Professional Practice to Practical Pedagogy Bryan Mead, 2024-01-09 A common refrain heard from instructors in offices across the world is that students have a hard time producing quality written discourse This is no different in the world of film studies where many undergraduate students struggle to cogently discuss the films they watch in class How can film instructors help students become better writers This book answers this question by first uncovering the disciplinary expectations we have for students and then offering strategies to explicitly teach those expectations in the classroom This book examines and identifies the disciplinary conventions of professional film studies discourse along with the expectations we have for student writing in undergraduate film courses What becomes clear from this analysis is that the pedagogical expectations we have for students are aligned with and shaped by professional writing in the discipline It helps to uncover the argument types instructors take for granted and helps those teaching undergraduate students not only to know what those expectations are but also how to use that knowledge to foster better student writing

12 Angry Men: Inside the Jury Room and the Psychology of Persuasion Tim Madsen, A timeless film A room full of jurors A mirror held up to society 12 Angry Men Inside the Jury Room and the Psychology of Persuasion is a deep provocative exploration of Sidney Lumet's iconic 1957 film through the lenses of psychology law ethics and human behavior More than a scene by scene analysis this book offers a layered dissection of the dynamics that unfold when twelve strangers are tasked with deciding a boy's fate and their own moral convictions Across ten expertly crafted chapters this nonfiction work examines each juror as a psychological profile investigates the mechanisms of groupthink and bias and traces the film's subtle use of silence nonverbal cues and emotional breakdowns From the courage of Juror 8 to the prejudice of Juror 10 from cognitive shortcuts to the slow unfolding of reasonable doubt the book brings to light the enduring relevance of a film where everything and nothing is said aloud Ideal for readers interested in justice social psychology leadership or ethical reasoning this book serves as both a tribute to a cinematic classic and a practical reflection on how persuasion empathy and dissent operate in real world decision making Whether you are a lawyer educator student or simply a thoughtful viewer this book will challenge you to reconsider what it means to judge and how easily we all do
