A Fundamental Mistake Graham Cliff, 2012-06-01 Does it puzzle you that despite ever increasing rules controls and counter measures antisocial behaviour is seemingly spiralling out of control Why have there been riots in Britain Why is law enforcement failing to make our society a better place in which to live Have our politicians lost the plot Are our values wrong A Fundamental Mistake explains why a change of direction is needed in society's thinking about how to get people to behave themselves it also offers a carefully argued strategy by which to achieve this The emphasis needs to shift away from coercion and punishment and towards inducement and reward The remarkable thing is that although we already have the necessary knowledge it's not put to good use Taking a fresh approach Graham Cliff draws on mainstream behavioural psychology and applied ethics to make his case for challenging some of our time honoured cultural assumptions and practices Be prepared to re think your position Despite the weightiness of the subject this is a book for everyone because it works up from first principles in a readily readable way No expertise is needed to follow the flow from the basics of human nature to the way our minds work then through the web of customs and rules that make up society on to government laws and punishment and finally to how and why things might be done differently Nobody will agree with everything that A Fundamental Mistake has to say because that's what debate is all about. However, it's as well to remember this when it comes to tackling antisocial behaviour: it's not enough just to get tough; we must get clever too.

Environmental Humanities in India Debajyoti Biswas, John C. Ryan, 2024-10-25. This open access book offers an introduction to the field of the environmental humanities in India. The environmental humanities, often referred to as EH, are a multifaceted, relatively new and swiftly evolving field of scholarship that integrates the theories and approaches of various disciplines from anthropology, art, communications, cultural studies, philosophy, and ecology to history, literature, media, music, performance, politics, sociology, theology, and theater. Practitioners of this considerably integrative and widely ranging field aim to address and, in certain cases, confront today's urgent ecological and cultural challenges, namely climate change, urban sustainability, biodiversity conservation, species decline, energy policy, the exigencies of the Anthropocene, environmental activism, and Indigenous peoples' justice. Although the environmental humanities have been relatively slow to gain traction in South Asia, an increasing momentum towards transdisciplinary approaches to ecology and sustainability is palpable in India. Comprising fourteen chapters, this contributed volume is the first major publication to call attention to current work in the environmental humanities in India. The volume foregrounds particular ecohumanist theories and methodologies evolving from Indian biocultural contexts. Towards this aim, the book consists of four thematic sections: Indigenous Perspectives, Conservation, Spirituality and Language, Theoretical Grounding, Education, Law and Ethics, Literary Formulations, Memoir, Parable, and Storyworlds, and Popular Narratives, Myth, Travel, and Music. The volume is of interest to undergraduates, postgraduates, early career scholars, and more established researchers in the environmental humanities and the allied fields of ecopoetics, ecocriticism, ecomusicology, environmental art, cultural ecology, postcolonial studies, and South Asian studies. This is an open access book.
