Market Segmentation Conceptual And Methodological Foundations:

Market Segmentation Michel Wedel, Wagner A. Kamakura, 2012-12-06 Modern marketing techniques in industrialized countries cannot be implemented without segmentation of the potential market Goods are no longer produced and sold without a significant consideration of customer needs combined with a recognition that these needs are heterogeneous Since first emerging in the late 1950s the concept of segmentation has been one of the most researched topics in the marketing literature Segmentation has become a central topic to both the theory and practice of marketing particularly in the recent development of finite mixture models to better identify market segments This second edition of Market Segmentation updates and extends the integrated examination of segmentation theory and methodology begun in the first edition A chapter on mixture model analysis of paired comparison data has been added together with a new chapter on the pros and cons of the mixture model The book starts with a framework for considering the various bases and methods available for conducting segmentation studies The second section contains a more detailed discussion of the methodology for market segmentation from traditional clustering algorithms to more recent developments in finite mixtures and latent class models Three types of finite mixture models are discussed in this second section simple mixtures mixtures of regressions and mixtures of unfolding models The third main section is devoted to special topics in market segmentation such as joint segmentation segmentation using tailored interviewing and segmentation with structural equation models The fourth part covers four major approaches to applied market segmentation geo demographic lifestyle response based and conjoint analysis The final concluding section discusses directions for further research

Market Segmentation Michel Wedel, Wagner A. Kamakura, 1997-11-30 Modern marketing in industrialized countries cannot do without segmentation of the potential market Goods can no longer be produced and sold without considering customer needs and recognizing the heterogeneity of those needs Since the concept emerged in the late 1950s segmentation has been one of the most researched topics in the marketing literature It has become a central concept in marketing both in theory and in practice Recent technological developments yielding a growing volume of information and a more detailed accounting of consumers actual behavior present new challenges and opportunities for market segmentation Market Segmentation Conceptual and Methodological Foundations provides an overview of the current state of the art in segmentation research It aims to provide readers with both the conceptual basis as well as the tools necessary to conduct segmentation studies in a large number of markets illustrated through a variety of applications An errata page for this book is available by contacting P Kluwer Academic Publishers P Norwell MA 02061 USA P Fax 1 781 871 6528
