School Accountability in Louisiana Mark J. Schafer,2007 Reinventing STEM in Early Childhood Education Eugene Geist,2025-05-09

Teaching STEM to young children is about more than helping them learn their numbers and facts. It is an important and complex process that to be effective should honor the way children's brains are developing. This book outlines how early childhood educators can best support young children's STEM journeys as children naturally take in information about their environment, synthesize it, and grow in the process. This comprehensive text details different theories of learning, research on how young brains develop, practical information on preparing your environment and yourself for teaching STEM to children, guidance for supporting diverse populations of students, and developmental guidelines, sample standards, resources, and lesson plans. Organized chronologically, the book connects relevant STEM topics with each developmental age range and outlines common school standards for each grade. Reinventing STEM in Early Childhood Education is meant to be a core text for preservice teachers in math and science methods courses and is also important reading for teacher educators and professional development programs.

Early Language Learning in Context David Hayes, 2022-08-19 This book critically analyses early school foreign language teaching policy and practice, foregrounding the influence of the socioeducational and cultural context on how policies are implemented and assessing the factors which either promote or constrain their effectiveness. It focuses on four Asian contexts: Malaysia, South Korea, Sri Lanka, and Thailand, while providing a discussion of policy and practice in Canada and Finland as a comparison. Concentrating on the state school sector, it criticises the worldwide trend for a focus on English as the principal or only foreign language taught in primary schools, founded on a rationale that widespread proficiency in English is important for future national success in a globalised economy. It maintains that the economic rationale is not only largely unfounded and irrelevant to the language learning experiences of young children, but also that the focus on English exacerbates system inequalities rather than contributing to their reduction. The book argues for a broader perspective on language learning in primary schools, one that values multilingualism and knowledge of regional and indigenous languages alongside a more diverse range of foreign languages. This book will appeal to educational policymakers, researchers, and students interested in early foreign language learning in state educational systems worldwide.

From Orthography to Pedagogy Thomas R. Trabasso, John P. Sabatini, Dominic W. Massaro, Robert Calfee, 2014-04-04

From Orthography to Pedagogy pays tribute to Richard L Venezky's work and influence on reading linguistics and computer science. This book catalogs findings related to speech and language development, reading and spelling's role in infant speech development, and the present and future advances in the study and theory of speech and cognitive development. The editors focus on the role technology could play in development and advancement of literacy, speech, and reasoning. Topics include speech directed at infants, speech perception, cognitive development, and spelling, early reading instruction, reading and comprehension, and influences of modern technology and multi-media. Representing a history of study in the field, this book appeals to anyone working in the area of language development as well as those in related fields such as linguistics and developmental psychology. Free Schools David Gillespie, 2014-02-01 The bestselling author of Sweet Poison shows us how to get the better of an education system that is costing a fortune in fees yet failing to deliver. David Gillespie has six kids. When it came time to select high schools, he thought it worth doing some investigation to assess the level of advantage his kids would enjoy if he spent the required 1.3 million to send them all to private schools. Shockingly, the answer was none whatsoever. Intrigued, David continued his research only to discover he was wrong on most counts as are most parents when it comes to working out what factors deliver a great education. He discovered that class size doesn't matter, your kids aren't any better off in co-ed than single-sex schools, and vice versa, composite classes are fine, fancy buildings are a waste of money, the old tie network won't cut it in the new industries, and NAPLAN is misread by everyone, so is largely meaningless as a measure of quality. Taking on an ingrained and historical system of vested interests, the unions, the government, our own sense of worth, privilege, and entitlement, this book is controversial and absolutely necessary. It is well researched, authoritative, and accessible. It is a must-read for parents as well as teachers and policy makers. Literacy in the Arts Georgina Barton, 2014-04-01 This book explores the many dialogues that exist between the arts and literacy. It shows how the arts are inherently multimodal and therefore interface regularly with literate practice in learning and teaching contexts. It asks the questions: What does literacy look like in the arts? And what does it mean to be arts literate? It explores what is important to know and do in the arts, and also what literacies are engaged in through the journey to becoming an artist. The arts for the purpose of this volume include five art forms: Dance, Drama, Media Arts, Music, and Visual Arts. The book provides a more productive exploration of the arts-literacy relationship. It acknowledges that both the arts and literacy are open, textured concepts and notes how they accommodate each other, learn about and from each other, and can potentially make education better. It is when the two stretch each other that we see an educationally productive dialogic relationship emerge. Louisiana Educational Assessment Program (LEAP) Test Prep : 4th Grade Math : Weekly Practice Workbook Volume 2 Gowri Vemuri, 2024-01-05 Louisiana Educational Assessment Program (LEAP) Test Prep, 4th Grade MATH Student Edition, Volume 1 Gowri Vemuri, 2024-10-16
