

IONIC BONDING

Name _____

Ionic bonding occurs when a metal transfers one or more electrons to a nonmetal in an effort to attain a stable octet of electrons. For example, the transfer of an electron from sodium to chlorine can be depicted by a Lewis dot diagram.

Calcium would need two chlorine atoms to get rid of its two valence electrons.

Show the transfer of electrons in the following combinations.

1. K + F

2. Mg + I

3. Be + S

4. Na + O

5. Al + Br

Fluidization John M. Matsen, John R. Grace, 2012-12-06 Fluidized beds have gained prominence in many process industries including chemicals petroleum metallurgy food and pharmaceuticals as a means of bringing particulate solids into contact with gases and or liquids Many fluidized bed operations are physical in nature e.g. drying coating classification granulation and rapid heat transfer as in quenching or annealing Other operations involve chemical reactions including the catalytic cracking of hydrocarbons the manufacture of acrylonitrile and phthalic anhydride the roasting of metallurgical ores and the regeneration of spent catalysts In recent years fluidized beds have been of special interest because of their potential as the central component in new processes for utilizing coal as a source of energy notably in coal combustion and gasification processes The fluidized bed offers a number of advantages over most other methods of contacting in particular high rates of heat transfer temperature uniformity and solids mobility Among the disadvantages are particle losses by entrainment attrition of solids limited reactor efficiency due to gas bypassing and gas and solids backmixing and difficulties in design and scale up due to the complexity of fluidized beds The International Fluidization Conference held in Henniker New Hampshire U.S.A. from 3-8 August 1980 was the fifth international congress devoted to the entire field of fluidization

Music of Life Stanislav Tregub, 2020-08-08 Based on the Theory of

Energy Harmony developed in the first two volumes of the series this book builds bridges between physical and life sciences It tackles fundamental questions that are considered the main riddles of biology How do the four elements of non living matter form the basic structures of living matter What is the physical mechanism that binds them into biochemical molecules The proposed model proceeds from the assumption that there are no special biophysical laws and the mechanism of energy interactions is universal for all types of matter The elements that form organic compounds have characteristics that allow them to create the Music of Life using this mechanism Starting from a detailed account of how notes of this music arise the book takes the reader step by step into the intricacies of the complex melodies harmonies and rhythms of living matter By answering fundamental questions about non animate and animate Matter the author paves the way to answering fundamental questions about the Mind These questions are easy to formulate What is it What does it do Why does it do it How does it do it However they are not easily answerable from a physical perspective which is the only perspective science can take Many people argue that the mission is impossible and explain the Mind away by proclaiming that it is non physical and thus inaccessible for scientific study The author shows that the lack of explanation is only due to cognitive science remaining at the phenomenological level of study It only describes the observed physiological phenomena and their mental outcomes leaving an explanatory gap between them However as in physics causal explanation is the ultimate task in cognitive science We should uncover the mechanism that works in living systems and produces the mental phenomena we combine in the word Mind In this volume the author builds the foundation for the theory of the Mind developed in the following parts of the Symphony of Matter and Mind project The Merck Report ,1904 Merck's Report Theodore Weicker,1904 Public Opinion ,1888
