Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on the Science of Children Birth to Age 8: Deepening and

Broadening the Foundation for Success,2015-07-23 Children are already learning at birth and they develop and learn at a rapid pace in their early years This provides a critical foundation for lifelong progress and the adults who provide for the care and the education of young children bear a great responsibility for their health development and learning Despite the fact that they share the same objective to nurture young children and secure their future success the various practitioners who contribute to the care and the education of children from birth through age 8 are not acknowledged as a workforce unified by the common knowledge and competencies needed to do their jobs well Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 explores the science of child development particularly looking at implications for the professionals who work with children This report examines the current capacities and practices of the workforce the settings in which they work the policies and infrastructure that set qualifications and provide professional learning and the government agencies and other funders who support and oversee these systems This book then makes recommendations to improve the quality of professional practice and the practice environment for care and education professionals These detailed recommendations create a blueprint for action that builds on a unifying foundation of child development and early learning shared knowledge and competencies for care and education professionals and principles for effective professional learning Young children thrive and learn best when they have secure positive relationships with adults who are knowledgeable about how to support their development and learning and are responsive to their individual progress Transforming the Workforce for Children Birth Through Age 8 offers guidance on system changes to improve the quality of professional practice specific actions to improve professional learning systems and workforce development and research to continue to build the knowledge base in ways that will directly advance and inform future actions The recommendations of this book provide an opportunity to improve the quality of the care and the education that children receive and ultimately improve outcomes for children

Promoting the Educational Success of Children and Youth Learning English National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine,Health and Medicine Division,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Board on Science Education,Board on Children, Youth, and Families,Committee on Fostering School Success for English Learners: Toward New Directions in Policy, Practice, and Research,2017-08-25 Educating dual language learners DLLs and English learners ELs effectively is a national challenge with consequences both for individuals and for American society Despite their linguistic cognitive and social potential many ELs who account for more than 9 percent of enrollment in grades K 12 in U S schools are struggling to meet the requirements for academic success and their prospects for success in postsecondary education and in the workforce are jeopardized as a result Promoting the Educational Success of Children and Youth Learning English Promising Futures examines how evidence based on research relevant to the development of DLLs ELs from birth to age 21 can inform education and health policies and related practices that can result in better educational outcomes This report makes recommendations for policy practice and research and data collection focused on addressing the challenges in caring for and educating DLLs ELs from birth to grade 12      Interdisciplinary Approaches to Multilingualism Suzanne Curtin, Mary Grantham O'Brien, Rahat Naqvi, 2015-07-16 This research topic stems from the Interdisciplinary Approaches to Multilingualism conference which was hosted by the Language Research Centre at the University of Calgary. It was the first conference of its kind which brought together the work of researchers, educators and policy makers in the areas of first and second language acquisition from psycholinguistic and pedagogical perspectives. The goal was to provide an opportunity for participants to engage with the implications of multilingualism from a range of perspectives including the effects of being bilingual from infancy to adulthood, the process and benefits of learning multiple languages and the impact of multilingualism on society.

Teaching Young Learners in a Superdiverse World Heather Lotherington, Cheryl Paige, 2017-04-07 This book documents a collaborative action research project in one school where researchers and practitioners worked together to develop multimodal literacies and pedagogies for diverse multilingual elementary classrooms. Following chronologically from Lotherington's Pedagogy of Multiliteracies 2011, this volume picks up after teachers and researchers have learned how to work efficiently as a learning community to offer project-based learning approaches. This edited collection relates how teachers and students of different grade levels, language backgrounds and abilities developed a shared agenda and created a framework for effective and inclusive practices. Contributors demonstrate that collaboration, creative pedagogical solutions and innovative project-based learning are all essential parts of learning and teaching socially appropriate and responsive literacies in a multimodal superdiverse world.

Student and Teacher Writing Motivational Beliefs Steve Graham, Gary A. Troia, Gustaf Bernhard Uno Skar, 2024-06-21 The study of students' motivational beliefs about writing and how such beliefs influence writing has increased since the publication of John Hays' 1996 model of writing. This model emphasized that writers' motivational beliefs influence how and what they write. Likewise, increased attention has been devoted in recent years to how teachers' motivational beliefs about writing, especially their efficacy to teach writing, impact how writing is taught and how students progress as writers. As a result, there is a need to bring together in a Research Topic studies that examine the role and influence of writing beliefs. Historically, the psychological study of writing has focused on what students write or the processes they apply when writing. Equally important but investigated less often are studies examining how writing is taught and how teachers' efforts contribute to students' writing. What has been less prominent in the psychological study of writing are the underlying motivational beliefs that drive or inhibit students' writing or serve as catalysts for teachers' actions in the classroom when teaching writing. This Research Topic will bring together studies that examine both students' and teachers' motivational beliefs about teaching writing. This will include studies examining the operation of such beliefs, how they develop, cognitive and affective correlates, how writing motivational beliefs can be fostered and how they are related to students' writing achievement. By focusing on both students' and teachers' beliefs, the Research Topic will provide a more nuanced and broader picture of the role of motivation beliefs in writing and writing.

instruction This Research Topic includes papers that address students motivational beliefs about writing teachers motivational beliefs about writing or teaching writing Students motivational beliefs about writing include beliefs about the value and utility of writing writing competence attitudes toward writing goal orientation motives for writing identity epistemological underpinnings writing and attributions for success failure as examples Teacher motivational include these same judgements as well as beliefs about their preparation and their students competence and progress as writers to provide additional examples This Research Topic is interested in papers that examine how such beliefs operate develop are related to other cognitive and affective variables how they are impacted by instruction and how they are related to students writing performance Submitted studies can include original research both quantitative qualitative or mixed methods meta analysis and reviews of the literature

Handbook of Research on Teaching Drew Gitomer,Courtney Bell,2016-05-19 The Fifth Edition of the Handbook of Research on Teaching is an essential resource for students and scholars dedicated to the study of teaching and learning This volume offers a vast array of topics ranging from the history of teaching to technological and literacy issues In each authoritative chapter the authors summarize the state of the field while providing conceptual overviews of critical topics related to research on teaching Each of the volume s 23 chapters is a canonical piece that will serve as a reference tool for the field The Handbook provides readers with an unaparalleled view of the current state of research on teaching across its multiple facets and related fields
