History Paper 1 November 2014 Question Paper:

A Question of Worth Chris Steed, 2016-09-14 We live in a world that has become a resource a world conditioned by the progressive domination of a monetary scale applied across the board Our value and worth are contingent upon what we earn on what we own Amidst the increasing financialisation that characterises much of the globe the prevailing ethos is that the only values we can usefully measure are those that can be quantified and expressed in terms of economics Yet economic value and the value of the human are closely connected erode the economic and you erode the personal In the global economic crash of recent years it has been people who have been under assault not just financial value The vulnerability of a society shaped solely by economic and monetised transactions is exposed when the economy and the monetisation of everything fails When the economic machine seizes up it is people who are devalued and dumped Drawing upon his experience in government education and the Church the author asks Must we be a market society as well as a market economy Can we devise a non economic account of describing human value and worth Christopher Steed argues that the really important issues that frame the contemporary human situation are those that cannot be measured Quality is also vital to human flourishing what after all is wealth for In this timely and important work the author calls for a wider concept of value one that encompasses both economic value and human value and for a society that cultivates the importance of the human
