Discipline Problems Tadashi Dozono, 2024-05-07 Angel a Black tenth grader at a New York City public school self identifies as a nerd and likes to learn But she's troubled that her history classes leave out events like the genocide and dispossession of Indigenous people in the Americas presenting a sugar coated image of the United States that is at odds with her everyday experience The history I learned in school is simpler she says The world I live in is a lot more complex Angel like every student interviewed in Discipline Problems has been identified by teachers as a troublemaker a student whose behavior disrupts classroom norms and interferes with instruction But her critiques of the curriculum she s taught speak to her curiosity and insight crucial foundations for understanding history Like many students who have been marginalized by systemic racism in American schools she exposes the shortcomings of her classrooms academic environments by challenging both the content and the methods of her education All too often these challenges are framed as troublemaking and the students are disciplined for acting out instead of being rewarded for their intellectual engagement Tadashi Dozono a professor of education and former high school social studies teacher takes seriously the often overlooked critiques that students of color who get labeled as troublemakers direct toward their high school history curriculum He reinterprets troublemaking usually cast as a behavioral deficit as an intellectual asset and form of reasoning that challenges the disciplining reason of classrooms where whiteness is valued over the histories and knowledge of people of color Dozono shows how what are traditionally framed as discipline problems can be seen through a different lens as responses to educational practices that marginalize non white students Discipline Problems reveals how students of color seek out alternate avenues for understanding their world and imagines a pedagogy that champions the curiosity intellect and knowledge of marginalized learners

Smithsonian Stories Wilton S. Dillon,2015-01-08 Why is the Smithsonian more than the Nation s Attic Or more than a museum complex As Wilton S Dillon shows the Smithsonian came to be the institution we know today under the twenty year leadership of Sun King S Dillon Ripley Ripley aspired to reinvent the Smithsonian as a great university with museums Although little understood by the public at large it began as a basic research center The Smithsonian remains a key contributor to the world of higher learning and functions diplomatically as the ministry of culture for the United States Dillon provides backstage insights into Ripley s quest for the wholeness of knowledge He describes how he inspired its role as a theater of ideas as well as artifacts Under his tutelage the National Mall became a playground for world intelligentsia an intellectual free trade zone in the shadow of the nation s political capital Dillon reminds us that interdisciplinary international Smithsonian symposia foreshadowed twenty first century issues and trends His descriptions of the educational rewards of balancing tradition with the avant garde are inspiring As Dillon reminds us Ripley s twenty year reign may well have helped spark the waning embers of the Enlightenment
