Historical Analysis Essay

The constitution reads that "All men are created equal", does this include women? To put it simply, no (William & Mary, n.d.). An extraordinary quantity of sex discrimination grievances and suits established the argument that protective labor laws operated as a restriction on women's employment opportunities (see "Civil Rights" in the Law Library American Women guide). The fate of the Equal Rights Amendment is far from decided. From 1972 until 2020 thirty-seven states have ratified the ERA. The reality is, that regardless of the great achievements of women over the years, under the constitution women and men do not have the same rights. The ERA must be ratified in order for women to officially have the same rights and benefits as men. Although the Equal Rights Amendment process has advanced, the amendment needed has not made its official way as part of the constitution. Representative Barbara Jordan made a statement back in 1979 requesting an extension for the ratification deadline (<https://dp.la/primary-source-sets/the-equal-rights-amendment/sources/1206>). Ms. Jordan's statement is an example of the importance of equal rights. The representative argues that is no "contemporaneous census" on the ERA issues. When this statement was made, it had already taken 50 years for the equal rights progress to have come as far as it had. While analyzing history, we must not ignore that we cannot trust our national legislators to do comprehensive work without the ERA being ratified. In other words, the Supreme Court practices the Constitution in its understanding of biased law,
