Digital Activism in Zimbabwe Tenford Chitanana, 2024-10-21 This book investigates the role of the internet and social media in political processes in non western and non democratic contexts Using Zimbabwe as a case study the book demonstrates how activists and ordinary people deploy social media particularly Facebook to subvert an enduring hegemonic state However the book also highlights how authoritarian regimes are in turn learning and adapting to the information age challenging the impact of digital activism Studies of digital activism in the Global South are often centred around democracy but this book paints a more complex picture examining the role and effect of digital activism in challenging state hegemony in authoritarian contexts The book notes that while communication technologies help mediate activism they are also simultaneously constrained by pre existing and emergent challenges tied to the social and political context and the inherent limitations of those technologies The book investigates the tactics used by digital activists the contextual factors and restrictive political environment they operate in including the role of pro government activists and ultimately the impact of digital activism given these constraints From the case of Zimbabwe the book builds out a broader theoretical analysis of the evolution of third world protest in the digital age examining the limitations of activists actions and the ideological deficit in online activism to ferment a virulent counter hegemony National Symposium on Sustainable Mining Technology, 2002

Policing Rape Katrin Hohl, Elizabeth A. Stanko, 2024-07-05 The policing of rape is in permacrisis This book addresses the question of why police investigations continue to fail most rape victim survivors and puts forward a framework for what policing can do to change this Low conviction rates and poor victim survivor experiences are the hallmarks of the rape justice gap Three decades of research policy and legal changes have tweaked rape investigations to alleviate some of their ills however for the majority of victim survivors the process remains gruelling Police forces are notoriously resistant to reform even in the face of rapidly declining public trust The starting point of this book is the recognition that if we want profound change in policing we must try something new To do so the authors move from asking What is it about rape that makes it so difficult for police to investigate it well to asking What is it about the police that makes it so difficult for police to investigate rape well Policing Rape sets out a practice oriented theoretical framework for radically and sustainably transforming rape investigations rape prevention and the quality of officer engagement with victim survivors The authors reflect on the journey of putting this framework into practice within Operation Soteria Bluestone as a step on the path towards a radical transformation of rape policing This book is essential reading for all those looking to understand and improve the policing of rape Holistic Responses to Reducing Reoffending Ian Mahoney, Rahmanara Chowdhury, 2024-06-07 Offering a range of theoretical and conceptual ideas as well as practical examples this book provides a detailed insight into holistic opportunities for promoting desistance reducing reoffending and supporting re settlement and re integration Providing a fresh lens through which to view existing debates within desistance and re settlement literature the book encourages different perspectives and a new framing of current approaches To this purpose each chapter considers what embedding a person centered holistic approach within the criminal justice system might look like including ways of working within the confines of current processes potential ethical considerations and how to maximize the potential impact to reduce reoffending Interdisciplinary in approach Holistic Responses to Reducing Reoffending will appeal to students scholars practitioners and policymakers within criminology criminal justice penology and prison studies

Drug Law Enforcement, Policing and Harm Reduction Matthew Bacon, Jack Spicer, 2022-12-30 The policing of drugs is an intriguing complex and contentious domain that brings into sharp focus the multifaceted nature of the police role and has farreaching consequences for health crime and justice While research on drugs policing has historically been surprisingly sparse fragmented and underdeveloped the field has recently become a burgeoning area of academic study influenced by contemporary trends in policing practices changes in drug policy and wider social movements This book makes a much needed interdisciplinary and international contribution that engages with established and emerging areas of scholarship advances cutting edge debates and sets an agenda for future directions in drugs policing Drug Law Enforcement Policing and Harm Reduction is the first edited collection to devote its attention exclusively to drugs policing It brings together a range of leading scholars to provide a deep and thorough account of the current state of knowledge In addition to academic analysis authors also include serving police officers and policymakers who have influenced how drugs policing is framed and carried out Together the contributors draw on a diverse set of empirical studies and theoretical perspectives with the thread running throughout the book being the concept of harm reduction policing With accounts from various countries localities and contexts topics covered include the in effectiveness and unintended consequences of the war on drugs attempts to reform drugs policing and the role of partnerships and policy networks The broader theme of inequality lies at the heart of this collection An accessible and compelling read this book will be of interest to academics and students of criminology public health and social policy especially those researching policing drug policy and harm reduction It also offers valuable insights and practical guidance for professionals working in the drugs field

The Palgrave Handbook of Consumerism Issues in the Apparel Industry Hans Rüdiger Kaufmann, Mohammad Fateh Ali Khan Panni, Demetris Vrontis, 2024-07-31 This handbook offers a comprehensive overview of consumerism issues in the textile apparel and fashion industry illustrating the impact of consumerism on the sector with a focus on SDG 12 Responsible Consumption and Production The book presents a synthesis of mainstream and emerging thinking and studies on green ethical social and environmental issues Currently marketing practices place emphasis on sustainability and social responsibility Although corporate strategies embrace this notion by claiming to be socially responsible and environmentally friendly the truth is still debatable In light of this scholars and practitioners need to effectively and convincingly respond to consumer concerns on sustainability by adapting their business practices Split into seven parts the Handbook covers theoretical challenges on sustainable consumerism in the apparel

The Conservative Governments and Social Policy Hugh Bochel, Martin Powell, 2024-01-09. Focusing on the policy approaches of Conservative governments since 2015, this book examines key social policy areas including education, health, housing, employment, children, and young people, and more. Respected social policy researchers explore the degree to which the positions and policies of recent Conservative governments have differed from the previous Coalition government (2010-15). They consider the extent to which austerity has continued and the influence of other policy emphases, such as a levelling up agenda. Reflecting on the rapid changes of Prime Minister, they compare the themes of the Cameron, May, Johnson, Truss, and Sunak administrations, critically examine the impacts of the external shocks of Brexit and COVID-19, and the changing patterns of public expenditure. Social Work in Wales Wulf Livingston, Jo Redcliffe, Abyd Quinn Aziz, 2023-06-27. Reimagining Probation Practice Lol Burke, Nicola Carr, Emma Cluley, Steve Collett, Fergus McNeill, 2022-10-17. This book provides a comprehensive and positive reimagining of probation practice in England and Wales across all the key settings in which work with people subject to supervision takes place. Bringing together chapters co-authored by academics and practitioners, it offers an overall conceptualisation of the rehabilitative endeavour within the realities of a probation service recently unified after the acknowledged failure of the Transforming Rehabilitation reforms. Reimagining Probation Practice covers the main themes and job functions of probation practice, from court work to individual and group interventions, to resettlement and public protection, to partnerships, to education and training. Each chapter includes a brief critical history of the area of practice, the current policy context, the applicability of different forms of rehabilitation, personal, legal, judicial, social, and moral to this area of practice, an overview of current good practice, and areas in need of development. The book argues that the principles of parsimony, proportionality, and productiveness should be applied to the criminal justice system in its work to rehabilitate individuals. This book is essential reading for practitioners and all those engaged in probation training, as well as policy makers, leaders, managers, and those interested in social and criminal justice.
