Council considers compulsory purchase of ex-department store

OLYMPIC-SIZED POOL PLAN FOR DERELICT SITE

PLANS are being drawn up for an Olympic-sized swimming pool and ice rink on the site of the former John Lewis department store in Hull city centre.

Councillor David Clench, cabinet member for sport and leisure, has suggested a compulsory purchase order could be used to take over the 100,000 sq ft site, next to a council car park.

He said: "I want to see a little swimming pool, not a big one, with an ice rink on the city centre."

Some people outside Hull will think it's a joke, but we're not and we'll soon have an Olympic-size swimming pool.

"We have people looking at a number of sites now and my preference would be this site."

"This site has been dormant for many years. It's become a bit of a blot on the landscape."

by Kevin Shoesmith
Chief Reporter

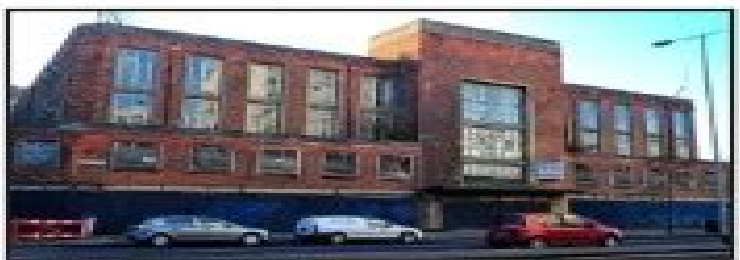

Forward, it's not good enough to have buildings left around for years.

Mr Clench suggested there has been talk of a city centre Olympic site, but it's not in Hull, London and Sheffield, but inside it is about to become a reality.

"People have wanted plans for me," he said. "I have been in local government 44 years and I am more realistic than I have ever been."

He says outside it's not just the Hull, but the site and condition area, which includes roughly one million people, does not have an Olympic-size swimming pool.

"It makes sense to combine a pool and ice rink. The ice rink could help heat the pool."
