12. How does the new judge tell Huck, and what lesson does the judge learn?
- The new judge tells Huck by telling Huck to go into his father's outside and attempting to reform Huck's father. Huck's father actually scares the judge, wrong by telling him newscast for children and making him shut up in the night. The judge learns that some people say Huck's father cannot be an angry reformer.

1. Where does Huck's father take him and why does Huck feel the need to run away from home? Huck's father takes him to a cabin in the woods and beat him and scold him in the cabin. Huck feels the need to run away from home because he realizes that it is his worst option. He escapes his father's abuse.
2. How does Huck's father react to seeing a free-black man in town? What does this reveal about his character and beliefs? Huck's father is outraged that a black man is well-dressed, educated, and even has the right to vote, which he says is an insult to himself and others who consider themselves superior. Based solely on their race, this reaction reveals his deep hatred of free men and women, as well as his sense of entitlement and superiority.
