Mediation in the Construction Industry Penny Brooker, Suzanne Wilkinson, 2010-07-19 The application of construction dispute procedures has changed dramatically in the last decade This has resulted in an increased use of Alternative Dispute Resolution in many countries and mediation in particular Construction is one of the major industries using mediation in the UK and in many other countries such as the US China Australia and New Zealand This expansion in mediation has been helped by encouragement from governments although it takes diverse forms in different legal jurisdictions for example court rules to encourage this use as in the US and UK the courts own mediation schemes or programmes or legislation backed programmes or the use of industry driven mediation clauses in standard form contracts These developments have taken place extremely rapidly They represent significant changes to the legal environment within which the international construction industry conducts its business but to date there has been little research on their impact All these initiatives have inevitably led to a developing legal jurisprudence concerned with the validity of contract clauses or with providing statutory interpretation of the rules requiring or governing practice This has important consequences for the construction industry because legal uncertainty increases the likelihood of dispute which is not only costly for the disputants but can be damaging to national and global economies This book identifies the emerging international practices within construction mediation and seeks solutions to the many legal and commercial challenges which they pose It presents an international collection of reviews by experts and allows a comparative commentary on the practice of construction mediation and the legal challenges facing its development

Migration, Remittances and Development in Lesotho Jonathan Crush, Belinda Dodson, 2010-07-17 The relationship between migration development and remittances in Lesotho has been exhaustively studied for the period up to 1990 This was an era when the vast majority of migrants from Lesotho were young men working on the South African gold mines and over 50 percent of households had a migrant mineworker Since 1990 patterns of migration to South Africa have changed dramatically The reconfiguration of migration between the two countries has had a marked impact on remittance flows to Lesotho The central question addressed in this report is how the change in patterns of migration from and within Lesotho since 1990 has impacted on remittance flows and usage
