The internet has negatively impacted the society. Do you agree? Describe your point of view with proper elaboration or examples.

In this era of globalization, interconnected network which is also known as internet have been widely used by everyone. People nowadays were concerned about the internet more than anything else. Therefore, has the internet negatively impacted the society?

I do not agree that the internet has negatively impacted the society. However, I think that the internet has impacted the society on the good side in many ways. Firstly, I think internet allow us to communicate with one another without any hindrances. The usage of internet would be more convenient when it comes to communication. It would help us save a lot of money when we want to text or call our friends. In the past, messaging and calling would cause quite large amount of money if we were sending a very long message or talking over in a long phone call. However, now we could easily use the text messages and also audio calling our friends in Whatsapp with no extra charges. Hence, the internet has help us to connect with one another even easier than ever before.

Apart from that, internet has also made us more convenient when it comes to information access. We can easily search for the information we want in just a split of second. All we have to do is to type in the keywords that we want to look for and the search engine will do all the job for us. Therefore, we don't have to be in the library searching up and down and spending decades to search for the information that we want from the respective books. Plus, most of the resources on the internet are free. This may be useful especially students who can't afford to buy an expensive reference book.
