Canine and Feline Geriatric Oncology Alice Villalobos, Laurie Kaplan, 2008-02-28 Half the population of dogs and cats aged 10 and over will die of neoplasia. The bonds that clients have developed with their older pets are especially strong and drive the increasing demand for more proficient and highly compassionate medical treatment of companion animals diagnosed with cancer. This book offers more than just a competent clinical approach to the most common tumors in dogs and cats. This book also offers a focus on the special needs of geriatric pets and their owners. Amply illustrated with dozens of case studies representative of those regularly encountered in practice, Canine and Feline Geriatric Oncology will provide readers with the tools needed to diagnose and treat aging pets with cancer and to help clients make the best decisions for themselves and for the animals with whom they share their lives. Canine and Feline Geriatric Oncology is a unique resource. It is a useful oncology reference for specialists, veterinarians in general practice, veterinary technicians, and clinic staff. The many what ifs that the practitioner inevitably faces in interactions with clients and their aging pets with cancer are presented and discussed. Special Features: Focuses on the special needs of geriatric pets and their caregivers. Offers direction in the diagnosis and treatment of aging pets with cancer. Addresses many of the what ifs that arise in interactions with clients and aging pets with cancer. Amply illustrated with full color throughout. A valuable reference for practicing veterinarians, technicians, hospital staff, and professionals involved in supportive counseling for pet caregivers.

Driver Training for Automated Vehicles Siobhán E. Merriman, Katherine L. Plant, Kirsten M. A. Revell, Neville A. Stanton, 2024-04-30 Since the introduction of Automated Vehicles (AVs) on roads, there have been a number of high profile collisions which have highlighted significant driver challenges. These include challenges associated with drivers' trust in the automation, their knowledge and awareness of the AV's capabilities and limitations, and their reduced situation awareness of the road environment and the vehicle. Solutions are needed to overcome these challenges so that the expected benefits of AVs can be realised. Driver Training for Automated Vehicles: A Systems Approach identifies the training requirements for drivers of AVs and takes a systematic approach to design, develop, implement, and evaluate a comprehensive training package to address these requirements. This book explores how training can overcome the driver challenges associated with AVs by improving drivers' mental models, trust in automation, decisions, and behaviour when activating a Level 4 AV. It presents a systematic approach to the training lifecycle by first presenting the current state of research into AVs, identifying the challenges and training requirements for drivers of AVs, and then developing and evaluating a training programme to achieve these requirements. This fascinating title highlights the need for drivers to undergo training for AVs and takes us a step closer to this need. It walks readers through a systematic four-step process and provides practical guidance to develop and evaluate an effective training programme. The reader will develop a thorough understanding of the current driver challenges with AVs and the methods and systems to mitigate them through current knowledge and research. This book is an ideal read for practitioners.

designers and academics with a professional or research interest in AVs Its appeal extends to those in the fields of automotive design Systems Engineering Human Factors and education and training Ford Ka 2003 to 2008 (52 to 58
