underpinnings of concept mapping and of the studies in the book include Ausubel's cognitive theory of meaningful learning, constructivist and Vygotskian psychology to name a few. There is evidence particularly from international studies such as PISA and TIMSS and mathematics education research which suggest that students' mathematical literacy and problem-solving skills can be enhanced through students collaborating and interacting as they work, discuss and communicate mathematically. This book proposes the meta-cognitive strategy of concept mapping as one viable means of promoting communicating and explicating students' mathematical thinking and reasoning publicly in a social setting, e.g. mathematics classrooms as they engage in mathematical dialogues and discussions. Concept Mapping in Mathematics Research into Practice is of interest to researchers, graduate students, teacher educators and professionals in mathematics education.
