International Perspectives on Teaching and Learning for Mathematical Literacy, 2024-10-02 Mathematics plays an important role in today's world and is used in daily life more than is often appreciated. Mathematical literacy denotes the competence to deal with the mathematical issues of life in modern society. The underlying purpose of this book is to support the development of rich understandings and practices of how an education for mathematical literacy can be realised. The collected works emerging from several educational systems offer a fresh perspective on mathematical literacy and the chapters include practical examples that teachers, pre-service teachers and teacher educators might adapt to their own needs.

Resources in Education, 2001      National Assessment of Educational Progress 1969-1983 Theodore B. This annotated bibliography of 575 references lists all major publications by or about NAEP published between 1969 and 1983. References are in a classified arrangement by specific or special assessment. Documents not dealing with a specific assessment are grouped by Methodological Publications, Special Analyses and General and Miscellaneous Materials by NAEP are separated from materials about NAEP done by external organizations. Reviewing the landscape of writing assessment and existing research based theories on writing, the authors demonstrate how a test based approach to accountability and current practices have undermined effective teaching and learning of writing. This book bridges the gap between real world writing that takes place in schools, college and careers and the writing that students are asked to do in standardized writing assessments to offer a new ecological approach to writing assessment. Murphy and O'Neill's new way forward turns accountability inside out to help teachers understand the role of formative assessments and assessment as inquiry. It also brings the outside in by bridging the gap between authentic writing and writing assessment. Through these two strands readers learn how assessment systems can be restructured to become better aligned with contemporary understandings of writing and with best practices in teaching. With examples of assessments from elementary school through college, chapters include guidance on designing assessments to address multiple kinds of writing, integrate reading with writing and incorporate digital technology and multimodality. Emphasizing the central role that teachers play in systemic reform, the authors offer sample assessments developed with intensive teacher involvement that support learning.
