century writers the Satan character in John Milton's Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained the Tempter in John Bunyan's Grace Abounding to the Chief of Sinners and Diabolus in Bunyan's The Holy War the poetry of John Wilmot earl of Rochester and Dorimant in George Etherege's Man of Mode The initial understanding of this development is through a sequential reading of Milton and Bunyan which examines the Satan character as an archetype in the making building upon each to work so that the character metamorphoses from a groveling serpent and fallen archangel to a humanized form embodying the human impulses necessary to commit evil Rosenfeld then argues that this development continues in Restoration literature showing that both Rochester and Etherege build upon their literary predecessors to develop the satanic figure towards greater humanity Ultimately she demonstrates that these writers taken collectively have imbued Satan with the characteristics that define the human This book includes as an epilogue a discussion of Samson in Milton's Samson Agonistes as a later seventeenth century avatar of the humanized satanic form providing an example for understanding a stock literary character in the light of early modern texts
