

My family

My family has three people: my father, my mother and me. I am the only daughter in my family. I haven't any brothers. My father is a lecturer in a college. He is 48 years old. He has been teaching English for over 20 years. He is an experienced teacher. He has already written 40 books. My mother works at the same school with my father. She is 43 years old. She is a cheerful and pretty person. As for me, I am a pupil at a high school in the province now. I am a student. My dream is to be an English teacher like my parents. I hope that my dream will come true in a near future.

the history of his family as a guide to explore the psychological and moral implications of memory against the backdrop of one of humanity's darkest periods. From his perspective of a life lived across German and Jewish contexts, Frie explores what it means to discover the legacy of a Nazi past. Beginning with the narrative of his grandfather, he shows how the transfer of memory from one German generation to the next keeps the Holocaust at bay. Not in My Family is rich with poignant illustration. Frie beautifully combines his own story with the stories of others, perpetrators and survivors, and the generations that came after. As a practicing psychotherapist, he also draws on his own experience of working with patients whose lives have been directly and indirectly shaped by the Holocaust. Throughout, Frie proceeds with a level of frankness and honesty that invites readers to reflect on their own histories and to understand the lasting effects of historical traumas into the present.

The Many Faces of Multilingualism Piotr Romanowski, Martin Guardado, 2020-10-12 Multilingualism has become an increasingly common global phenomenon, especially in the last two decades. Therefore, multilingual programmes have now been regarded as a cornerstone of education systems in many countries around the world. Learning multiple languages helps us plug into a globalised world and strengthen links with a multitude of speakers from a diversified reality we live in. Thanks to the researched cases described in the chapters, further developments aimed at fostering multilingual practices in the contemporary world will be enhanced. The chapters included in the present volume provide an overview of current theory, research, and practice in the field. They deal with such prominent research topics as multilingual education, language policies, language contact, identity of multilingual speakers, to name only a few. The selected chapters focus on the numerous and heterogeneous relations between languages. They also incorporate a series of contextualized studies with diverse research designs applied in different settings across the globe. This volume constitutes a pivotal reference source for the latest scholarly material on multilingualism from twelve different countries. It is a thought-provoking collection that provides a series of rich insights into the way multilingualism is practised in international contexts. It is ideally designed for academics, upper-level students, educators, professionals, and practitioners seeking linguistic and pedagogical guidance on multilingualism.

Child Agency in Family Language Policy Ying Zhan, 2023-06-06 Past studies of family language socialization often focus on children's verbal communication skills and are conducted from the parents' perspective. This book describes a child's mostly self-directed and near-simultaneous multilingual and multiliterate development from birth to age 8. The present findings thus emphasize the critical role of child agency and they may redefine and expand on the traditional theoretical framework of family language policy.

High-expectation Curricula Curt Dudley-Marling, Sarah Michaels, 2012-11-28 Despite growing evidence that all students will benefit from engaging and challenging instruction, many struggling students continue to experience a circumscribed curriculum that emphasizes low-level skills. students from low socioeconomic backgrounds and cultural and linguistic minority communities While the book focuses on language and literacy instruction key chapters on math and science also demonstrate high expectation teaching across the curriculum Book Features A broad framework for creating high expectation curricula in underperforming K12 schools clear illustrations of what alternative literacy practices look like powerful examples of rich math and science instruction research based strategies for second language learners students with disabilities and struggling readers an incisive critique of the deficit driven curricula that dominates in underachieving schools and classrooms

Cultural Practice Sandra R. Schecter,Robert J. Bayley,2005-04-11 Language as Cultural Practice Mexicanos en el Norte offers a vivid ethnographic account of language socialization practices within Mexican background families residing in California and Texas This account illustrates a variety of cases where language is used by speakers to choose between alternative self definitions and where language interacts differentially with other defining categories such as ethnicity gender and class It shows that language socialization instantiated in language choices and patterns of use in sociocultural and sociohistorical contexts characterized by ambiguity and flux is both a dynamic and a fluid process The study emphasizes the links between familial patterns of language use and language socialization practices on the one hand and children s development of bilingual and biliterate identities on the other Using a framework emerging from their selection of two geographically distinct localities with differing demographic features Schecter and Bayley compare patterns of meaning
