Chinese Science Fiction Mingwei Song, Nathaniel Isaacson, Hua Li, 2024-04-27 This volume brings together emerging approaches and addresses shifting paradigms in Chinese science fiction studies offering a window on fan cultures, internet fiction, gender, eco-criticism, post-humanism and biomedical discourse. These studies present a second wave of Chinese sf studies re-evaluating the canon of Chinese sf print and cinematic production and expand the range of critical approaches to the subject. The structure of the volume is both chronological and theme-focused. These studies also demonstrate that Chinese science fiction represents a significant contribution to modern Chinese cultural production both in terms of its value speaking powerfully to our modern condition and its sheer volume in terms of production and consumption. Chinese science fiction speaks to both China's rapidly shifting reality, its political multiplicity and its formless future voicing the anticipations and anxieties of a new epoch filled with accelerating alterations and increasing uncertainty.

Delport, 2024-05-03 COVID-19 has impacted the way we see the world and the way we view spirituality in times of crisis, people turn or return to religion or spirituality. Most of the South African population identifies as Christian. This brings to the fore what is meant by spirituality in a country crippled by the remains of apartheid, structure, rampant corruption, poverty and various systemic problems. Overall, there is a lack of scholarship investigating spirituality and spirituality studies from the global South. This book aims to bridge the gap. New avenues are investigated of thinking about God in difficult circumstances as ideologies of hope and prosperity are reshaped. This book links text and context, spirituality and material culture, self and society, the analogue and the digital, contemplation and action, saying and unsaying, in short, the question of experiencing God.
