

High School Senior Paper

In high school, did it ever feel like the overall education was prolongedly tedious and uninteresting? An increasing number of schools in our modern day society graduate students who have no interest in pursuing further education or have barely scraped by with just-above-failing grades.

The current state of our nation's schooling leaves an abundance of room for adjustment and improvement; if the material is engaging enough, students will be more motivated to complete the tasks they are given. State school funding should be increased to allow more fundraising, hands-on educational methods, and financial peace in a school setting.

Fundraising has become a crucial part of high school education. It is an efficient, community-based, school-wide opportunity to collect funds that may not only be used for day-to-day supplies used in the classroom but also invested in projects and future activities.

Original Works author Leah Groff explains the educational benefits of fundraising in her article How Fundraisers Can Benefit Your School, stating that "students raise funds to help a common goal, and if done correctly, they can learn fundamental life skills such as teamwork, creativity, customer service, and goal setting." Investing in long-term projects that will benefit students, staff, and the community should be more actively enforced than it currently is in schools across the nation. Building a school greenhouse and allowing students to grow and sell crops is a great example.

Other events such as raffles, bake sales, or carnivals get the community involved and encourage volunteer work as well. Increased fundraising can provide numerous benefits to any school that actively participates in their community and monitors their funds and where they use them. By being held accountable, both the school and any participating parties will gain credibility in front of the donors and the surrounding community.

Modern teaching curriculums were designed for the average student, yet one can argue that the average student does not exist. The result is hundreds of unmotivated kids dropping out before their high school graduation. As of May 2018, Idaho's graduation rate stood at a staggering 77.2% (Boyington), which means that 32.8 % of Idaho's high school students were not educationally stimulated enough to stay.

A variety of teaching methods are changing the course of the future of education, and schools across the nation should tak
