

A REFLECTIVE ESSAY

The grand end of instruction ... is not to stamp our minds irresistibly on the young but to stir up their own; not to make them see with our eyes but to look inquiringly and steadily with their own; not to give them a definite amount of knowledge but inspire a fervent love of truth; not form an outward regularity but to touch inward springs.

-Rev. William Channing

Education is not the filling of a pail, but the lighting of a fire.

-W.B. Yeats

As a student, I always had the greatest respect for those teachers who could teach me not by telling me the answer but by showing me that either I already knew it, or that I could find it myself. It was certainly easy and addictive to accept a straightforward explanation to a question and get on with the day, but I came to find that true learning sprang only from the interaction of the inquisitive mind and the thoughtful teacher who was careful enough not to provide the answer but the path to it.

Since I became a teacher in 1996, I have tried to instill in myself these qualities that I held in such high esteem in my own teachers. I have always had compassion for students, recognizing they all come with their own vision and expectations, their own skills and knowledge, some well-developed and some needing improvement. Through this, I have adopted several tenets that guide my personal approach to teaching:

Believe in beneficence. I have come to believe that in general, most all students are inherently good. Particularly at the level of pharmacy school, they have a deep desire to learn and become professionals, though their outward demeanor may not always reflect this attitude. Though some students may seem distracted, uninterested, or challenging in nature, at their heart most students possess an inquisitive nature, and a need to succeed, though they may define their own level of success. As a good teacher, it is my job to find and inspire this desire in all students. I recall having several students who entered the rotation viewing it as little more than just a requirement, but exited expressing a newfound love of the profession or desire to do more. I encourage this attitude by letting students know on the first day of a rotation that a very

Reflections on Teaching For Learning Deborah Rickey,Randall Wisheart,2024-04-10 Deborah Rickey and Randall Wisheart have spent more than 80 years in the field of education as teachers and administrators In The Habit of Passionate Teaching they share what they have learned from their students in middle school high school and teacher preparation programs The motivation for this book comes from the authors deeply held belief that it is crucial for teachers to share their knowledge about teaching their craft knowledge so that every generation of teachers can build on what has worked in the past Based on interviews with dozens of experienced teachers and with the addition of their own experience the authors describe and explore what teachers said about becoming effective and passionate teachers and how the practices became a habit The teachers whose voices are shared throughout the book have found success in teaching over a span of five ten even twenty and more years They have bucked the trend that has seen so many teachers leaving the profession after three years or fewer The authors sought to discover why these teachers chose to stay in the profession The emerging answer to the question is that these teachers learned and employed practices of passionate teachers and honed the practices until they became a habit a habit of passionate teaching The authors highlight the importance of practices that veteran teachers shared during interviews and focus group sessions One practice is reflecting Teachers reported the importance of reflecting before during and after teaching in order to help them focus on student learning Another practice is nurturing relationships Teachers shared that building positive relationships with their students was an essential practice The practice of engaging in an action research mindset was also listed as an important practice Teachers were clear that having a question or wondering about student learning was crucial Yet another practice is seeking the perspective of their own students in their journey to the habit of passionate teaching Seeking the student perspective was an essential element of their teaching practice Teachers shared how they sought and acted on the student perspective in both formal and informal ways Finally the practices of listening and questioning were described as being threaded throughout these teachers professional lives Listening was crucial in understanding the student perspective and helped create a classroom culture that led to teachers and students being partners in learning Questioning was described in a very specific way in the context of this book Teachers explained the importance of asking questions they did not know the answer to as an important way to emphasize that answers lay in exploration not in the teacher's head. Learning and employing practices of passionate teachers is not an easy process. Teacher anecdotes and examples clearly demonstrated a commitment of these veteran teachers to being lifelong learners. The teachers whose words are shared throughout this book were clear that being a good teacher means always inquiring about what is working and what isn't and making the necessary adjustments. This book is built around stories and insights of teachers who have made a commitment to the habit of passionate teaching. This book includes important ideas that teachers reported were key to filling them with hope and helping them understand what it means to be a good teacher. In addition, the teachers and authors share specific strategies, practices, and protocols that can be adapted for elementary, secondary, and post-secondary classrooms. This book describes the craft knowledge of the authors and veteran teachers in hopes that other educators can build on the ideas and in the future share their own craft knowledge. My English Language Journey Ghassoub Sharif Mustafa, 2023-11-29 This is the story of Ghassoub, a child from Palestine who falls in love with the English language and with everything British after meeting a British lady tourist by chance at the Dead Sea where she teaches him a few English words and treats him well. This incident makes him dream to be something English and it plays a significant role in shaping his future as within a few decades he rises the ranks to become a professor of English and an author. Ghassoub's long and tough journey in the English language as a learner and as a teacher offers the reader valuable lessons in some aspects of English language learning and of its complex teaching profession. His dedication and passion for teaching have enabled him to innovate and come up with his own theories that are vital to achieve success and greatness in the teaching profession. This story, which is written in a simple, humorous, sarcastic, and sometimes metaphorical style, is not just a story but a guide or a self-improvement book for anyone who wants to have a more effective life, a more effective study style, a more effective career, and a deep understanding of the painful process of writing a book. Faces of English

Education Lillian L. C. Wong, Ken Hyland, 2017-04-28 Faces of English Education provides an accessible, wide-ranging introduction to current perspectives on English language education, covering new areas of interest and recent studies in the field. In seventeen specially commissioned chapters written by international experts and practitioners, this book offers an authoritative discussion of theoretical issues and debates surrounding key topics such as identity, motivation, teacher education, and classroom pedagogy. It discusses teaching from the perspective of the student as well as the teacher and features sections on both in and out of class learning, showcases the latest teaching research and methods including MOOCs, use of corpora, and blended learning, and addresses the interface between theory and practice. It analyses the different ways and contexts in which English is taught, learned, and used around the world. Faces of English Education is essential reading for pre- and in-service teachers, researchers in TESOL, and applied linguistics, and teacher educators as well as upper undergraduate and postgraduate students studying related topics. Promoting Reflection on Language Learning Neil Curry, Phoebe

Lyon,Jo Mynard,2023-09-12 This book brings together a wide range of studies practical applications and reflective accounts written by academics working at a university in Japan to present a cohesive overview of their collaborative efforts to promote learner reflection within their institution The book contributes to a shift in language education towards promoting learner responsibility and ownership of their learning through developing a deeper sense of awareness of and motivation for the learning process It makes a convincing case for showing that not only is promoting reflection possible but it can also be effectively integrated into language learning activities with significant benefits to the learners The chapters are highly practical for researchers and practitioners with the research chapters containing instruments which make them ideal for replication studies The text includes a wealth of practical tools and activities for practitioners who will be able to experience first hand how to facilitate student success and increase satisfaction
