

ROMEO AND JULIET TEST MEMO:

QUESTION ONE:

Read through the following extracts and answer the questions set on them.

1.1. EXTRACT A:

Rebellious subjects, enemies to peace,
Profaners of this neighbour-stained steel,—
Will they not hear? What, ho! you men, you beasts,
That quench the fire of your pernicious rage
With purple fountains issuing from your veins,

1.1.1. Identify the speaker (1)

The Prince

1.1.2. To whom is he or she speaking? (1)

The people of Verona

1.1.3. Describe in your own words what is being said and why. (2)

The Prince is chastising the Capulets and Montagues for their feud.(1) He says they are causing the bloodshed of their own though their fighting. (1)

Be flexible

1.2. EXTRACT B:

(Takes place inside Capulet's home)

And too soon marr'd are those so early made.
The earth hath swallow'd all my hopes but she,
She is the hopeful lady of my earth:
But woo her, gentle Paris, get her heart,
My will to her consent is but a part;
An she agree, within her scope of choice
Lies my consent and fair according voice.

1.2.1. Identify the speaker (1)

1.2.2. To whom is he or she speaking? (1)

1.2.3. Describe in your own words what is being said and why. (2)

English Paper 2kzn:

Between Worlds Linda Chisholm, 2017-11-30 How the story of how missionary schools adopted the Bantu education reforms gives insight into the ongoing legacy of the apartheid in the South African educational system The transition from apartheid to the post apartheid era has highlighted questions about the past and the persistence of its influence in present day South Africa This is particularly so in education where the past continues to play a decisive role in relation to inequality Between Worlds German Missionaries and the Transition from Mission to Bantu Education in South Africa scrutinises the experience of a hitherto unexplored German mission society probing the complexities and paradoxes of social change in education It raises challenging questions about the nature of mission education legacies Linda Chisholm shows that the transition from mission to Bantu Education was far from seamless Instead past and present interpenetrated one another with resistance and compliance cohabiting in a complex new social order At the same time as missionaries complied with the new Bantu Education dictates they sought to secure a role for themselves in the face of demands of local communities for secular state controlled education When the latter was implemented in a perverted form from the mid 1950s one of its tools was textbooks in local languages developed by mission societies as part of a transnational project with African participation Introduced under the guise of expunging European control Bantu Education merely served to reinforce such control The response of local communities was an attempt to domesticate and master the foreign body of the mission so as to create access to a larger world This book focuses on the ensuing struggle fought on many fronts including medium of instruction and textbook content with concomitant sub texts relating to gender roles and sexuality South Africa s educational history is to this day informed by networks of people and ideas crossing geographic and racial boundaries The colonial legacy has inevitably involved cultural mixing and hybridisation with paradoxically parallel pleas for purity Chisholm explores how these ideas found expression in colliding and coalescing worlds one African the other European caught between mission and apartheid education

English Language as Hydra Vaughan Rapatahana, Pauline Bunce, 2012-06-22 In far too many places the worldwide trade in English language teaching testing and publishing has become a self perpetuating self congratulating neocolonial monster a veritable multi headed Hydra Too often the English language industry aggressively promotes itself as some sort of uplifting essential proper or even better means of communication than any other language Unfortunately its relentless global outreach is taking place at the direct expense and the active denigration of local and regional languages not to mention individual identities English Language as Hydra brings together the voices of linguists literary figures and teaching professionals in a wide ranging expos of this monstrous Hydra in action on four continents It provides a showcase of the diverse and powerful impacts that this ever evolving gluttonous beast has had on so many non English language cultures as well as the surreptitious drug like ways in which it can infiltrate individual psyches

The English Language Teacher in Global Civil Society Barbara M. Birch, 2009-06-02 How can English language teachers contribute to peace locally and globally English language teachers and learners are located in the global civil society an international network of civil organizations and NGOs related to human rights the environment and sustainable peace English with its special role as an international language is a major tool for communication within this network On the local level many teachers are interested in promoting reconciliation and sustainable peace but often do not know how to do so This book provides information analysis and techniques to help teachers around the world take action toward this goal Balancing in a readable and accessible way the global and the local core and periphery cultural diffusion and resistance theory and practice pessimism and optimism outsider and insider perspectives the expert role and the apprentice role and prescriptive and elicitive methods it offers an alternative to literature about critical applied linguistics globalization and peace education that is simply too complex and wordy to spread easily from theoretician to the classroom teacher The English Teacher in Global Civil Society synthesizes threads from many fields and topics into a coherent and empowering argument for the activist role English language teachers can take to promote social change draws on humanistic education peace education cross cultural understanding problem posing cooperative learning and critical thinking methodologies to help English language teachers learn how to teach conflict resolution skills in their classrooms covers issues in critical applied linguistics approaches and methodologies in ESL EFL global and local curricular issues and specific skill areas such reading writing and speaking suggests a new goal for English language teachers global citizenship This engaging informative provocative and highly readable book is a welcome resource for English language teacher trainers pre service teachers practicing classroom teachers and Peace Corps workers around the world through a discussion of the affordances and constraints associated with the use of multiple linguistic resources in the EMI classroom Unlocking the chains of knowledge Monwabisi K Ralarala, Suren Pillay, Zannie Bock, Russell H.

Kaschula, 2025-02-28 Unlocking the chains of knowledge Understanding the challenges remaking pedagogies and curriculum renewal addresses the complex yet imperative task of reshaping the colonial legacy embedded within South African higher education and beyond The book confronts the historical and ideological bindings that have entrenched European centric knowledge within the fabric of academia in Africa propelling a transformative journey within the Arts and Humanities At its core this work presents a tripartite focus firstly understanding the deep seated issues ingrained in the traditional university structure secondly remaking pedagogical practices and lastly renewing the curriculum Recognising the historical dominance of Eurocentric ideas the book explores various movements theories and practices from negritude to postcolonial theory aiming to emancipate and amplify the voices and knowledge of those historically excluded With a commitment to a pluralistic approach the book scrutinises the power dynamics of language the importance of diverse perspectives and the challenging task of inclusion without replicating the divisive structures of the past Prof Christine Winberg Research Chair in Work integrated Learning Cape Peninsula University of Technology In Unlocking the chains of knowledge Understanding the challenges remaking pedagogies and curriculum renewal the editors provide a decisive and detailed reflection and profound understanding of complexities of knowledge generation in Southern Africa Unlike many volumes that address these intricate complexities this volume not only navigates the intricate complexities of the long history of epistemic injustices and intolerance in the Southern African higher education environment but delves deeper into the core of what is required for curriculum transformation and renewal The groundbreaking volume addresses the urgent need for linguistic inclusivity consciousness about decoloniality as well as embedding social justice in South African and Zimbabwean education and by doing so presents strategies that can be used by the rest of the African continent in addressing the scourge of coloniality Prof Pamela Maseko Executive Dean Faculty of Humanities Nelson Mandela University English Quarterly ,2003

Language Policy and Planning in Universities Anthony J. Liddicoat, 2018-10-18 In a world where higher education is increasingly internationalised questions of language use and multilingualism are central to the ways in which universities function in teaching research and administration Contemporary universities find themselves in complex linguistic environments that may include national level language policies local linguistic diversity an internationalised student body increasing international collaboration in research and increased demand for the use and learning of international languages especially English The book presents a critical analysis of how universities are responding these complexities in different contexts around the world The contributions show that language issues in universities are complex and often contested as universities try to negotiate the national and the international in their work In some contexts universities language policies and the ways in which they are implemented may have a negative impact on their ways of working In other contexts however universities have embraced multilingualism in ways that have opened up new academic possibilities for staff and students. Collectively the chapters show that universities language policy and planning are a work in progress and that much further work is needed for universities to achieve their language goals. This book was originally published as a special issue of Current Issues in Language Planning.
