Jihad in Premodern Sufi Writings Harry S Neale,2016-12-01 This book is the only comprehensive study in a European language that analyzes how Sufi treatises Qur anic commentary letters hagiography and poetry define and depict jihad Harry S Neale analyzes Sufi jihad discourse in Arabic and Persian texts composed between the eleventh and seventeenth centuries providing access to many writings that have hitherto been unavailable in English Despite the diversity of practice within Sufism that existed throughout the premodern period Sufi writings consistently promulgated a complementary understanding of jihad as both a spiritual and military endeavor Neale discusses the disparity between contemporary academic Sufi jihad discourse in European languages which generally presents Sufis as peaceful mystics and contemporary academic writing in Arabic that depicts Sufis as exemplary warriors who combine spiritual discipline with martial zeal The book concludes that historically Sufi writings never espoused a purely spiritual interpretation of the doctrine of jihad

Geography, Religion, Gods, and Saints in the Eastern Mediterranean Erica Ferg,2020-01-16 Geography Religion Gods and Saints in the Eastern Mediterranean explores the influence of geography on religion and highlights a largely unknown story of religious history in the Eastern Mediterranean In the Levant agricultural communities of Jews Christians and Muslims jointly venerated and largely shared three important saints or holy figures Jewish Elijah Christian St George and Muslim al Khi r These figures share peculiar characteristics such as associations with rain greenness fertility and storms Only in the Eastern Mediterranean are Elijah St George and al Khi r shared between religious communities or characterized by these same agricultural attributes attributes that also were shared by regional religious figures from earlier time periods such as the ancient Near Eastern Storm god Baal Hadad and Levantine Zeus This book tells the story of how that came to be and suggests that the figures share specific characteristics over a very long period of time because these motifs were shaped by the geography of the region Ultimately this book suggests that regional geography has influenced regional religion that Judaism Christianity and Islam are not historically or textually speaking separate religious traditions even if Jews Christians and Muslims are members of distinct religious communities and that shared religious practices between members of these and other local religious communities are not unusual Instead shared practices arose out of a common geographical environment and an interconnected religious heritage and are a natural historical feature of religion in the Eastern Mediterranean This volume will be of interest to students of ancient Near Eastern religions Judaism Christianity Islam sainthood agricultural communities in the ancient Near East Middle Eastern religious and cultural history and the relationships between geography and religion      Feeley's English Homophone Dictionary Elizabeth J.
