Key Data Operator Performance Test:

Testing the Data Warehouse Practicum Doug Vucevic, Wayne Yaddow, 2012-08-22 The quality of a data warehouse DWH is the elusive aspect of it not because it is hard to achieve once we agree what it is but because it is difficult to describe We propose the notion that quality is not an attribute or a feature that a product has to possess but rather a relationship between that product and each and every stakeholder More specifically the relationship between the software quality and the organization that produces the products is explored Quality of data that populates the DWH is the main concern of the book therefore we propose a definition for data quality as fitness to serve each and every purpose Methods are proposed throughout the book to help readers achieve data warehouse quality , The Empirical Validation of House Energy Rating (HER) Software for Lightweight Housing in Cool Temperate Climates Mark Andrew Dewsbury, 2015-02-02 This book reports on the first empirical validation of AccuRate Australia's national benchmark software tool for house energy ratings The validation was conducted by the University of Tasmania in collaboration with Forest and Wood Products Australia the Australian Government the CSIRO and industry partners The study presented here describes the results of graphical and statistical analysis of variations observed between the measured and simulated data from three different test buildings in Launceston Tasmania It shows that while the AccuRate software is well suited to modeling energy flows there are discrepancies between the simulated and measured temperatures of the test buildings Moreover it highlights possible connections between the discrepancies in all zones and the outside air temperature wind speed global and diffuse solar radiation and possibly the ground model Beyond its contribution to further investigations into the ongoing improvement and calibration of the Australian NatHERS supported AccuRate software this book also meticulously describes the methodology used in conducting the research which is expected to pave the way for further studies of this type Software Testing Gerald D.
