VOCATIONAL ANALYSIS

The Occupational Analysis provides consistent input to the other steps for consideration. Based on input, occupational categories suggested by the U.S. Department of Labor in writing its Dictionary of Occupational Titles. These groups are ranked from highest to lowest potential. The ranking is obtained by comparing the individual's score to the group's potential. Each major occupational area has three subareas: specific occupational titles which are also ranked to identify occupational potential. This may not be occupational title with a high rating while the occupational heading has a low rating, or vice versa. Grouping occupational and occupational ratings in the same group facilitates the analysis.
