Given that information services can now transcend the restrictions of a particular physical location or specific opening hours, it is more essential than ever to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by new technologies. Through the use of case studies, this resource shows how to revamp an existing service as well as how to create one from scratch. Key issues covered include: Introducing the concept of the e information service; What kind of an information service do you want to provide; Where are the customers; What kind of information do your customers need and in what formats; Who needs to be involved in your plans; Budgeting for your e information service; Keeping in touch with your customers; Keeping one step ahead of your competitors. Also includes an illustrated glossary of sample electronic services and a list of further information sources. The Handbook of Space Law addresses the legal and regulatory aspects of activities in outer space and major space applications from a comprehensive and structured perspective. It fundamentally addresses the dichotomy between the state-oriented character of space law and the scientific character of space exploration. Science, Method, and Argument in Galileo Maurice A. Finocchiaro, 2021-08-28 This book collects a renowned scholar's essays from the past five decades and reflects two main concerns: an approach to logic that stresses argumentation, reasoning, and critical thinking; and that is informal, empirical, naturalistic, practical, applied, concrete, and historical, and an interest in Galileo's life and thought, his scientific achievements, the Inquisition trial, and methodological lessons in light of his iconic status as father of modern science. These republished essays include many hard-to-find articles, out-of-print works, and chapters which are not available online. The collection provides an excellent resource of the author's lifelong dedication to the subject. Thus, the book contains critical analyses of some key Galilean arguments about the laws of falling bodies and the Copernican hypothesis of the earth's motion. There is also a group of chapters in which Galileo's argumentation is compared and contrasted with that of other figures such as Socrates, Karl Marx, Giordano Bruno, and his musicologist father, Vincenzo Galilei. The chapters on Galileo's trial illustrate an approach to the science vs. religion issue which Finocchiaro labels para-clerical and conceptualizes in terms of a judicious consideration of arguments for and against Galileo and the Church. Other essays examine argumentation about Galileo's life and thought by the major Galilean scholars of recent decades. The book will be of interest to scholars in philosophy, logic, philosophy of science, history of science, history of religion, philosophy of religion, argumentation, rhetoric, and communication studies. Century Types of English Literature Chronologically Arranged George William McClelland, 1925
