A Handbook for Teaching and Learning in Higher Education Stephanie Marshall,Heather Fry,Steve Ketteridge,2014-08-21 This entirely new edition of a very successful book focuses on developing professional academic skills for supporting and supervising student learning and effective teaching It is built on the premise that the roles of those who teach in higher education are complex and multi faceted A Handbook for Teaching and Learning in Higher Education is sensitive to the competing demands of teaching research scholarship and academic management The new edition reflects and responds to the rapidly changing context of higher education and to current understanding of how to best support student learning. Drawing together a large number of expert authors it continues to feature extensive use of case studies that show how successful teachers have implemented these ideas. It includes key topics such as student engagement and motivation, internationalisation, employability, inclusive strategies for teaching, effective use of technology and issues relating to postgraduate students and student retention. Part 1 explores a number of aspects of the context of UK higher education that affect the education of students, looking at the drivers of institutional behaviours and how to achieve success as a university teacher. Part 2 examines learning, teaching and supervising in higher education and includes chapters on working with diversity, encouraging independent learning and learning gain. Part 3 considers approaches to teaching and learning in different disciplines, covering a full range including arts and humanities, social sciences, experimental sciences through to medicine and dentistry. Written to support the excellence in teaching and learning design required to bring about student learning of the highest quality, this will be essential reading for all new lecturers, particularly anyone taking an accredited course in teaching and learning in higher education, as well as those experienced lecturers who wish to improve their teaching practice. Those working in adult learning and educational development will also find the book to be a particularly useful resource. In addition, it will appeal to staff who support learning and teaching in various other roles.

Advances in Web-Based Learning -- ICWL 2003 Wanlei Zhou, Paul Nicholson, Brian Corbitt, Joseph Fong, 2003-08-04. The 2 International Conference on Web Based Learning ICWL 2003 took place in Melbourne, Australia. ICWL 2003 followed the tradition of the successful ICWL 2002 held in Hong Kong and aimed at providing an in depth study of the technical and pedagogical issues as well as incorporating management issues of Web based learning. Additionally, there was a focus on issues of interest to the learner, offering the optimal Web based learning environment to achieve high academic results. The University organized this conference in conjunction with the Hong Kong WebSociety to provide a forum which gathered educators, researchers, technologists and implementers of Web based learning from around the world to discuss, collaborate and advance all relevant issues pertaining to this area of research. The main focus of ICWL 2003 was on the most critical areas of Web based learning, in particular Web based learning environments, virtual universities, pedagogical issues related to Web based learning, multimedia based e learning, interactive e learning systems, intelligence in on line education, e learning solutions, CSCL and authoring tools for e learning. In total, the conference received 118 papers from researchers and practitioners from 13 countries. Each paper was reviewed by at least three internationally renowned referees. Papers were rigorously examined and selected based on their originality, significance, correctness, relevance and clarity of presentation. Among the high quality submissions, 50 papers were accepted and included in the proceedings. Later, the proceedings editors will recommend that some high quality papers from the conference be published in a special issue of an international journal. Illuminating and Advancing the Path for Mathematical Writing Research Colonnese,
