The Oxford History of the Novel in English Cyrus R. K. Patell,Deborah Lindsay Williams,2024-03-05 The Oxford History of the Novel in English is a twelve volume series presenting a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction written by a large international team of scholars The series is concerned with novels as a whole not just the literary novel and each volume includes chapters on the processes of production distribution and reception and on popular fiction and the fictional sub genres as well as outlining the work of major novelists movements and tendencies This book offers an account of US fiction during a period demarcated by two traumatic moments the eve of the entry of the United States into the Second World War and the onset of the Covid 19 pandemic The aftermath of the Second World War was arguably the high point of US nationalism but in the years that followed US writers would increasingly explore the possibility that US democracy was a failure both at home and abroad For so many of the writers whose work this volume explores the idea of nation became suspect as did the idea of national literature as the foundation for US writing Looking at post 1940s writing the literary historian might well chart a movement within literary cultures away from nationalism and toward what we would call cosmopolitanism a perspective that fosters conversations between the occupants of different cultural spaces and that regards difference as an opportunity to be embraced rather than a problem to be solved During this period the novel has had significant competition for the US public's attention from other forms of narrative and media film television comic books videogames and the internet and the various forms of social media that it spawned If however the novel becomes a residual form during this period it is by no means archaic The novel has been reinvigorated over the past eighty years by its encounters with both emergent forms such as film television comic books and digital media and the emergent voices typically associated with multiculturalism in the United States

Post-Orientalism and Contemporary American Novels Mousa Abu Haserah, 2023-08-09 This book provides a scientific and academic contribution to the scholarly exploration of the complex relationship between the East and the West in American literature The study focuses on four novels Mornings in Jenin Falling Man The Reluctant Fundamentalist and Riyah Al Janna The Wind of Paradise to discuss how the literature reflects on Middle Eastern themes in relation to the situations and conditions of the New East It treats the Orient as a moving body and takes Edward Said's Orientalism into account also showing Post Orientalism or the New East as a literary phenomenon in the 21st century specializing in politics militarism and post colonial ideology The book explains and divides the Middle East into two parts the Arab Islamic Middle East and the non Arab Islamic Middle East It highlights the similarities and differences between these two parts as depicted in various novels presenting the East as a land of desolation and destruction due to the political regional and religious changes that have shaken it

Being There, Being Here Maurice Ebileeni,2022-06-16 Arabic is unconditionally the national language of Palestinians but for many it is no longer their mother tongue More than a century after the early waves of immigration to the Americas and more than seven decades after the Nakba of 48 generations of Palestinians have grown up in a variety of different contexts within Israel Palestine and the world at large This ongoing scattered state has led to the proliferation of Palestinian culture as it is simultaneously growing in multiple directions depending on geographical political and lingual contextualization The Palestinian story no longer exists exclusively in Arabic A new generation of Palestinian and Palestinian descended writers and artists from both Latin and North America Scandinavia and Europe at large as well as Israel Palestine are bringing stories of their heritage and the Palestinian nation into a variety of languages such as Spanish Italian English Danish and Hebrew among so many other languages Being There Being Here is the product of an eight year long journey in which Maurice Ebileeni explores how the Palestinian homeland is being imagined in multiple languages from a variety of positions both locally and globally The book poses unsettling questions about this current situation and also looks to the future to speculate about how a Palestinian nation might still house the notion of home for an increasingly diverse Palestinian population
