Lightning Flashes and Electric Dashes William John Johnston, 1877

Buddhadhamma Phra Prayudh Payutto, 1995-09-14 Written by a Thai Theravada monk who has been recognized for his scholarly achievements Buddhadhamma is a modern distillation of pivotal doctrines found in the Pali Buddhist canon Many scholars of Buddhism in Thailand and beyond have said that if a person is not able to read the more than 40 volumes of the Pali Buddhist canon then read this one book This volume with a clear introduction that introduces the author and places him in the context of the history of the Thai Buddhist tradition makes a significant contribution to the scant literature on Theravada Buddhism in English One of the major contributions of this book is a detailed description of the Buddhist principles of causality which will add to other works on this topic by modern Buddhist scholars Furthermore this book reveals the rational basis of the Buddhist worldview and contains an especially lucid discussion of the distinctive Buddhist notion of no self and Buddhist faith or confidence based on inquiry      Yeats's Poems A. Norman Jeffares, 2017-01-10 William Butler Yeats is considered Ireland's greatest poet. The collection includes Yeats's fourteen books of lyrical poems, his narrative and dramatic poetry, and his own notes on individual poems      Evening hours, ed. by E.H. Bickersteth Edward Henry Bickersteth (bp. of Exeter), 1872

David Bergelson's Strange New World Harriet Murav, 2021-12-22 A contemporary evaluation of Bergelson and his works examining Yiddish literature, Jewish culture, and modernism. David Bergelson (1884-1952) emerged as a major literary figure who wrote in Yiddish before WWI. He was one of the founders of the Kiev Kultur Lige, and his work was at the center of the Yiddish-speaking world of the time. He was well known for creating characters who often felt the painful after-effects of the past and the clumsiness of bodies stumbling through the actions of daily life as their familiar worlds crumbled around them. In this contemporary assessment of Bergelson and his fiction, Harriet Murav focuses on untimeliness, anachronism, and warped temporality as an emotional, sensory, existential, and historical background to Bergelson's work and world. Murav grapples with the great modern theorists of time and memory, especially Henri Bergson, Sigmund Freud, and Walter Benjamin, to present Bergelson as an integral part of the philosophical and artistic experiments, political and technological changes, and cultural context of Russian and Yiddish modernism that marked his age. As a comparative and interdisciplinary study of Yiddish literature and Jewish culture, this work adds a new ethnic dimension to understandings of the turbulent birth of modernism. Harriet Murav treats Bergelson with the care and sincerity that literary critics have shown other important writers. This is a masterpiece of literary scholarship that will be sure to transform not only how people read Bergelson and who chooses to read Bergelson but how readers engage with the entire concept of modernism itself. David Shneer, author of Yiddish and the Creation of Soviet Jewish Culture (1918-1930)      Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature Anna Lorraine Guthrie, Bertha Tannehill, Neltje Marie Tannehill Shimer, 1957      The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1880      American Illustrated Magazine, 1917      Then and Now Floyd C. Watkins, 2021-12-14 Taking a new approach to the study of Robert Penn Warren's imposing and still growing poetic canon, Floyd C. Watkins has found in the poems what he describes as a poetic autobiography unparalleled in American letters. Drawing on interviews with Warren, members of his family, and contemporaries from his hometown but keeping the poetry itself constantly at the center of his vision, Watkins shows how the poetry has grown from the experience of the boy and man and from his contemplation of his family's and his country's history. He traces through the poems a family chronicle moving from the frontier to the late twentieth century and set in a landscape that is clearly derived from the Kentucky of Warren's boyhood. The little town of Guthrie, divided by railroad tracks with its two burial grounds for whites and blacks becomes in the poems a town of both memory and imagination peopled by characters many of whom are recognizable to Warren's contemporaries. The images of a black man fleeing through swampy woods outside the town of a grayfaced man who led a lynch mob of a mad druggist making a list of people to poison all have counterparts in Guthrie's history. Then and Now is a revealing and provocative study of the poetic process in a poet who is thought of as the originator of the biographical fallacy.
