International Education Daniel Ness, Chia-Ling Lin, 2015-03-17 This encyclopedia is the most current and exhaustive reference available on international education. It provides thorough up to date coverage of key topics, concepts and issues as well as in depth studies of approximately 180 national educational systems throughout the world. Articles examine education broadly and at all levels from primary grades through higher education, formal to informal education, country studies to global organizations.

Educating Tomorrow Angela Thody, 2000 It is well accepted that education needs to be equalised along gender lines. However, until the management of education is also gender sensitive, that content cannot expect to be effectively communicated. This is the premise of this groundbreaking book. It addresses gender issues and management practices in education by critically examining both successes and failures drawn from a number of African countries. It proposes ways of improving the management of education to focus on women who have hitherto been left out of the mainstream of educational and training practices. It throws a uniquely African light on an issue that goes to the heart of the process of democratisation. In order to empower the girl child in the new South Africa and in Africa, the patriarchal and parochial structures that exist within the African educational paradigm need to be broken down and replaced. This would address problems such as why women are discouraged from certain fields of studies like sciences, the effect that interactions in learning situations can have on the achievement and attainment of female students and the critical necessity of educating and training girls in rural Africa. The book speaks to the heart of the administrative processes within the education framework and shows how the way classes are structured or materials selected needs to be adapted in order to correct the present imbalance. It was created and developed with the aim of seeking out the best education management practices, finding common analyses from these and using them to develop guidelines for future education management.

UP FROM THE DUST Lester Mkanda, 2024-06-23 Lester Mkanda is a Malawian Irish Inspirational Entrepreneur. Born in a dusty ghetto of Malawi, Lester lost both of his parents by the age of 13. With so many deaths in his family, his childhood was filled with tears.

poverty fear and loneliness a very unpleasant situation which forced him to grow up fast and become mature beyond his age In search for greener pasture at a young age Lester migrated to South Africa hoping to get any kind of odd jobs to help him get by but things got even worse there before they got any better With absolutely nobody around to lend him a helping hand Lester became homeless in that foreign land sleeping on cardboard boxes outside shops from where he would wake up each morning not knowing where his next meal was going to come from Despite all the hardships that Lester was going through he maintained a positive attitude towards life worked hard and remain optimistic that things would someday get better at dream came to life when years later he landed at Dublin airport to start his new life in Europe with absolutely nothing but a backpack carrying few pairs of clothes he had holes in his socks and big dreams in his heart From there he went on to building a business empire for himself Lester is married to a fellow immigrant lady of Hungarian origin and together they have 2 children and lives in their family home in Ireland His current mission is to unashamedly use his life story and experiences to inspire and motivate those that are going through the challenges of life so they will begin to see themselves differently and begin to look for ways to turn their very own lives around and start to rise UP FROM THE DUST Subject

Leone Burton, 2003-02-28 This contributed volume explores equity and social justice within the field of mathematics education In part one Helga Jungwirth's introductory chapter provides a strong theoretical overview that is based in actual classroom behaviors and a typology that classifies the various interpretations found within this volume Also in part one Laurie Hart discusses developments in equity research in the United States Part two focuses on results of studies about social justice and their impact on learning in mathematics classrooms in various parts of the world For example in a chapter on Peru social justice does not just encompass gender but also inequalities in opportunities to learn such as problems of resources living and social conditions communal demands and language needs And part three focuses on computers as a resource to mathematics teaching The contributors raise several important social justice issues which have previously remained unresearched Although there are a number of chapters specifically dealing with gender many of the authors use one of the following strategies their gender specific questions are set in a wider socio cultural context they challenge what have threatened to become false orthodoxies or they raise other important issues These other issues include the meaning of democratic citizenship for mathematics classrooms the links between parents and children learning mathematics and the preconceptions of some teachers of underprivileged students in Australia Other chapters explore different forms of classroom communication participation and assessment The pieces on computers state that there is still not enough research to conclude whether computers in the mathematics classrooms are supportive of or detrimental to the learning of all students The one thing on which every author in this volume does agree is that social justice in mathematics education has still not been attained but that we must strive toward it to improve educational practices and society in general
