The School Counselor's Guide to Multi-Tiered Systems of Support is the first book to provide school counseling practitioners students and faculty with information and resources regarding the alignment and implementation of Comprehensive School Counseling Programs (CSCPs) such as the ASCA National Model and Multi-Tiered Systems of Support (MTSS). This innovative text provides a strong theoretical and research base as well as practical examples from the field, case studies, and relevant hands-on resources and tools to assist school counselors in comprehending, facilitating, and strengthening the implementation of CSCPs particularly through MTSS alignment. Furthermore, chapters include pertinent information from the CACREP standards and the ASCA National Model. This book is an essential resource for pre-service and practicing school counselors as well as their leaders, supervisors, and faculty looking to better understand and utilize the overlap between CSCPs and MTSS to strengthen school counseling programs to better serve students, schools, and communities.

Challenges to Implementing Effective Reading Intervention in Schools Barbara Foorman, 2016-12-20. This special issue is a how-to on overcoming the many systems-level challenges in K-12 public education to implement effective reading interventions for the vast numbers of students reading below grade level. It emphasizes building researcher-practitioner partnerships providing ongoing professional development for teachers and removing institutional barriers to change as the keys to effective reading intervention. Interventions for the upper grades focus on the challenges of coaxing content area teachers to learn new routines for building background knowledge, teaching academic vocabulary, and conducting discussions to foster critical reading and knowledge application. In the primary grades, interventions follow a multi-tiered system of support where enhanced classroom instruction is supported by small group intervention for struggling readers. The volume also discusses the importance of training special educators to implement data-based individualization. This is the 154th volume in the Jossey-Bass series New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development. Its mission is to provide scientific and scholarly presentations on cutting-edge issues and concepts in this subject area. Each volume focuses on a specific new direction or research topic and is edited by experts from that field.

Stop the Pendulum William D. Bursuck, Craig Peck, 2021-11-15 This is a book about the struggles over reforming reading instruction and the corresponding effort to improve reading achievement in the United States over the last seven decades

Writing Instruction and Intervention for Struggling Writers Michael Dunn, 2019-11-18 Writing is a challenging task for many children To address this issue many educational researchers advocate for schools to implement a multi tiered systems of support MTSS model where struggling writers can be detected as early as kindergarten and provided with intervention programming to improve their skills and hopefully not need long term placement in special education Traditionally schools have employed the wait to fail model where children were offered the opportunity to learn to read write and do math in the first few years of elementary school if they still struggled at the end of third grade age eight then they would be assessed for special education The problem with this was not only a delayed assessment timeline but also the standardized tests not having an adequate set of questions to assess early elementary grade skills as well as the ethical problems and racial ethnic biases of test questions MTSS provides educators with a renewed emphasis on early intervention and progress monitoring assessment once or twice a week to monitor each student s skills and make instructional changes to promote success This book offers a description and case examples of how schools and teachers can apply MTSS concepts for writing

Murray Thomas,2006-03-30 Many Americans may believe that religion in the schools is a controversial subject only in the United States But around the world the subject has gained widespread notoriety media coverage and attention from governing bodies school administrations and individuals In France conflict erupted when a young girl wore a headscarf to her public school the government there got involved to reassert the rule that no outward display of religion will be tolerated In India a panel was appointed to remove Hindu religious beliefs from high school textbooks In Pakistan the government passed a law to make the curriculum of Islamic religious schools more secular in its approach Here in the United States debates abound regarding the Pledge of Allegiance the posting of the Ten Commandments prayer in school and other familiar arguments But why do these controversies exist What prompts them Why do particular conflicts arise and what attempts are made to deal with them How have solutions fared How are the controversies in one country similar to or different from those in another In Religion in Schools R Murray Thomas uses case examples from twelve countries around the world covering all regions of the world and all the major religions to examine and answer these questions He reveals the complexities of the conflicts and shows what brought them about For example in France the conflicts often arise out of that nation's desire to remain intensely secular Using case examples and applying a uniform approach to analyzing each country's particular focus on religion and education he is able to show what these conflicts have in common how well solutions have worked and what may lie ahead
