Bristow, 1997-10-01 On May 29 1917 Mrs E M Craise citizen of Denver Colorado penned a letter to President Woodrow Wilson which concluded We have surrendered to your absolute control our hearts dearest treasures our sons If their precious bodies that have cost us so dear should be torn to shreds by German shot and shells we will try to live on in the hope of meeting them again in the blessed Country of happy reunions But Mr President if the hell holes that infest their training camps should trip up their unwary feet and they be returned to us besotted degenerate wrecks of their former selves cursed with that hell born craving for alcohol we can have no such hope Anxious about the United States pending entry into the Great War fearful that their sons would be polluted by the scourges of prostitution venereal disease illicit sex and drink that ran rampant in the training camps countless Americans sent such missives to their government officials In response to this deluge President Wilson created the Commission on Training Camp Activities to ensure the purity of the camp environment Training camps would henceforth mold not only soldiers but model citizens who after the war would return to their communities spreading white urban middle class values throughout the country What began as a federal program designed to eliminate sexually transmitted diseases soon mushroomed into a powerful social force intent on replacing America s many cultures with a single homogenous one Though committed to the positive methods of education and recreation the reformers did not hesitate to employ repression when necessary Those not conforming to the prescribed vision of masculinity often faced exclusion from the reformers idealized society or sometimes even imprisonment Social engineering ruled the day Combining social cultural and military history and illustrating the deep divisions among reformers themselves Nancy K Bristow with the aid of dozens of evocative photographs here brings to life a pivotal era in the history of the U S revealing the complex relationship between the nation s competing cultures progressive reform efforts and the Great War HIV, AIDS, and Childbearing Ruth R. Faden, Nancy E. Kass, 1996 Whether with whom and when to have children are among the most precious of our private decisions Increasingly however the interest of others in these decisions raise difficult questions about the role of government and health professionals in influencing reproductive choice Nowhere is this tension felt more keenly than in the context of HIV and AIDS This book takes on the tough issues related to HIV and childbearing Is there a moral right to have children What are the limits of persuasion Are there constitutional constraints on interference with reproduction What are the precedents with restricting the childbearing behavior of women who use drugs The book includes original work by doctors lawyers ethicists and public health professionals Also included are the experiences of HIV infected women and their health care providers Interviews were conducted over a two year period with HIV infected women and with health care providers from four cities to examine what issues of childbearing in the context of HIV mean to them The book is divided into four sections on medical and public health issues legal issues ethical and social issues and comments from the community It concludes with recommendations for clinical practice and public policy Public policy makers health care providers practitioners in bioethics pediatrics health law and obstetrics gynecology will find this book invaluable when dealing with issues related to HIV and childbearing
