Contested Places Contested Pasts focuses on how the First and Second World Wars Holocaust Cold War communist period and 1956 Uprising have been memorialized and marked in the Hungarian landscape The book explores the difficult debates surrounding the remembrance and commemoration of these events This is the first comprehensive book length study of Hungary s commemorative landscapes from the First World War to the present By stressing the spatiality and materiality of memory practice it offers new insights into why some events are celebrated widely while other controversial events are marked modestly or not at all Using a comparative case study methodology the book crisscrosses the country using archival sources and extensive fieldwork to document the stories behind dozens of major and minor memorials Examples from Budapest are important but key contributions of this book are the examples drawn from cities towns and villages outside the capital A wealth of photographs maps and diagrams are included to illustrate important ideas especially the range of responses that have emerged to commemorate major historical events In the end the book highlights the value of studies like this one that explore the varied ways in which the World Wars Holocaust and Cold War have been represented in the commemorative landscapes of Europe and beyond This book is for readers interested in Hungarian and European history public art and architecture landscape studies and commemorative practices Weaving theory and examples in an engaging storyline the book will appeal to broader audiences interested in the challenges of confronting Europe s legacies of twentieth century war violence and political upheaval A Humanitarian Past Adele Ånggård, 2014-11-03 This book opens a window on our historical past We find antiquity has drawn a blind over earlier and more humanitarian cultures writing off their artistic and egalitarian practices while antiquity s social habits escalated stress Psychologists have recently made us aware that stress has very negative results for community life Simultaneously archaeologists have uncovered information about Neolithic cultures and art that makes no sense seen beside ancient Greek descriptions The more we learn about Old Europe the more staggering and distorted the policies conveyed in ancient Greek myths dramas and epic poems become Surprisingly the Achaeans also show an intimate knowledge about their predecessors social values Sadly the Renaissance uncritically fell for the ancient Greeks version of history seeing it as the cradle of civilisation and our cultural heritage They have even passed on these ideas to us today Discovering A Humanitarian Past pitches us into an exciting and previously unexplored part of the human story New England's Hidden Past Dan Landrigan, Leslie Landrigan, 2020-06-15 New England is so compact that even casual visitors can sample its diverse history in just a short time But travelers and residents alike can also pass right by historic buildings landscapes and iconic objects without noticing them New England s Hidden Past presents the region s history in an engaging new way through 58 lists of historic places and things usually hidden in plain sight in all six

The Habit of Holding on to Past Impressions Sirshree,2015-09-04 In this discourse Sirshree has explained how this habit of holding the past impressions does not allow us to live in the present and take full benefit of it The mind forms the impressions termed as packets in the discourse in every experience or while meeting different individuals and then these impressions interfere while one encounters a similar new experience or when one again meets those individuals With this one does not live in the present with complete awareness and remains deprived of what the present is offering The world is our mirror and we need to set right our makeup by looking in to this mirror which means the world around is in fact continuously giving us our feedback and with that we need to take the necessary actions in our life In reality people do not understand this and keep blaming others for the problems they face The purpose of life is to realize the Self With the beautiful analogy of mirror Sirshree explains how we can go about realizing the Self

Singular Pasts Enzo Traverso,2022-11-01 Today history is increasingly written in the first person A growing number of historical works include an autobiographical dimension as if writing about the past required exploring the inner life of the author Neither traditional history nor autobiography this hybrid genre calls the norms of the historical profession into question In search of new and creative paths it transgresses a cardinal rule of the discipline third person narration long considered necessary to the objective analysis of the past Singular Pasts offers a critical account of the emergence of authorial subjectivity in historical writing scrutinizing both its achievements and its shortcomings Enzo Traverso considers a group of contemporary historians including Ivan Jablonka Sergio Luzzatto and Mark Mazower who reveal their emotional ties to their subjects and give their writing a literary flavor He identifies a parallel trend in literature in which authors such as W G Sebald Patrick Modiano Javier Cercas and Daniel Mendelsohn write their works as investigations based on archival sources Traverso argues that first person history mirrors contemporary ways of thinking such writing is presentist and apolitical perceiving and representing the past through an individual lens Probing the limits of subjective historiography he emphasizes that it is collective action that produces social change we instead of I In an epilogue Traverso considers the first person writing of Saidiya Hartman as a counterexample A wide ranging and illuminating critique of a key trend in humanistic inquiry Singular Pasts reconsiders the notion of historical truth in a neoliberal age
