

McDougal Littell

Biology

The background of the cover is a vibrant green, textured with faint, light-colored illustrations of various biological structures. These include a cross-section of a cell with a nucleus, a complex organic molecule, a detailed diagram of a fern frond, and a cross-section of a flower. The main image is a close-up of a crocodile's head and front leg, resting on a light-colored, textured rock. The crocodile has dark, scaly skin with some lighter, yellowish-brown markings on its face and neck. Its eye is visible, and its mouth is slightly open, showing a pinkish interior. The overall composition is a blend of nature photography and scientific illustration.
