Globalized Finance and Varieties of Capitalism H. van Zon, 2016-05-01 Hans van Zon analyzes the financialization of developed capitalism and argues that the emergence of finance as a dominant force has contributed to the relative decline of the West. He demonstrates that the neo liberal model is inherently unstable and undermines capitalist economies which can only function if they are embedded in institutions that are non or even pre capitalist. He shows how a toxic combination of financialization, corporate globalization and a deregulated and parasitic financial industry have led to structural economic stagnation in both the USA and the greater part of the EU. The State of the System Paul W. Bennett, 2020-09-23 Over the last fifty years Canada s public schools have been absorbed into a modern education system that functions much like Max Weber's infamous iron cage. Crying out for democratic school level reform, the system is now a centralized bureaucratic fortress that every year becomes softer on standards for students less accessible to parents further out of touch with communities and surprisingly unresponsive to classroom teachers. Exploring the nature of the Canadian education order in all its dimensions, The State of the System explains how public schools came to be so bureaucratic, confronts the critical issues facing kindergarten to grade 12 public schools in all ten provinces, and addresses the need for systemic reform. Going beyond a diagnosis of the stresses, strains, and ills present in the system, Paul Bennett proposes a bold plan to re-engineer schools on a more human scale as the first step in truly reforming public education. In place of school consolidation and managerialism, one size fits all uniformity, limited school choice, and the success for all curriculum, Bennett advocates for a new set of priorities: decentralize school governance, deprogram education ministries and school districts, listen to parents and teachers, and revitalize local education democracy. Tackling the thorny issues besetting contemporary school systems in Canada, The State of the System issues a clarion call for more responsive, engaged, and accountable public schools. EFFECTIVE BUSINESS COMMUNICATION, SECOND EDITION KAUL, ASHA, 2014-12-11

Communicating a message effectively needs precision, be it verbal or non-verbal. Beginning with an overview of business communication, the book educates on the principles of communication, oral and written. Divided into nine chapters, the first two chapters deal with oral communication, and the next seven deal with different forms of written communication. The book teaches how to write effective letters and prepare persuasive resumes. The chapters are well supported with many examples and illustrative exhibits wherever required. A new chapter, Chapter 9, has been added, titled Writing to Communicate, which presents incorrect use of language and phrases that rob the text of its report or a letter of authenticity and credibility. The chapter also presents correct use of the examples and the rationale or logic in the form of explanations. Designed as a textbook for management students, this book would be equally useful for management professionals and executives. Key features: Observes a simple pattern of Read, Comprehend, Test, Follow; Discusses strategies for identification and improvisation of communication skills, both oral and written; Provides numerous examples and illustrations that facilitate proper grasp of the topics discussed.

Public Service and Good Governance for the Twenty-First Century James L. Perry, 2020-05-01 Expert analysis of American governance challenges and recommendations for reform. Two big ideas serve as the catalyst for the essays collected in this book. The first is the state of governance in the United States, which Americans variously perceive as broken, frustrating, and unresponsive. Editor James Perry observes in his Introduction that this perception is rooted in three simultaneous developments: government's failure to perform basic tasks that once were taken for granted; an accelerating pace of change that quickly makes past standards of performance antiquated and a dearth of intellectual capital that generate the capacity to bridge the gulf between expectations and performance The second idea harkens back to the Progressive era when Americans revealed themselves to be committed to better administration of their government at all levels federal state and local These two ideas the diminishing capacity for effective governance and Americans expectations for reform are veering in opposite directions Contributors to Public Service and Good Governance for the Twenty First Century explore these central ideas by addressing such questions as what is the state of government today Can future disruptions of governance and public service be anticipated What forms of government will emerge from the past and what institutions and structures will be needed to meet future challenges And lastly and perhaps most importantly what knowledge skills and abilities will need to be fostered for tomorrow's civil servants to lead and execute effectively Public Service and Good Governance for the Twenty First Century offers recommendations for bending the trajectories of governance capacity and reform expectations toward convergence including reversing the trend of administrative disinvestment developing talent for public leadership through higher education creating a federal civil service to meet future needs and rebuilding bipartisanship so that the sweeping changes needed to restore good government become possible Contributors Sheila Bair William W Bradley John J DiIulio Jr Angela Evans Francis Fukuyama Donald F Kettl Ramayya Krishnan Paul C Light Shelley Metzenbaum Norman J Ornstein James L Perry Norma M Riccucci Paul R Verkuil Paul A Volcker Inequalities in the Early Years Bonnie Johnson, Yvonne Pratt-Johnson, 2018-06-14 Inequalities in the Early Years examines poverty's effects on children and provides workable solutions for decreasing childhood inequalities through the formal education process This powerful edited collection explores early childhood inequalities across ten disciplines earth sciences and geography life sciences physical sciences technology mathematics history society and social institutions business and economy the arts and sports and recreation following Kipfer's delineation of broad subject areas of knowledge The volume reaches beyond the domain of education to include multiple perspectives from scholars in the aforementioned disciplines Nuclear Regulatory Commission Issuances U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, 2016 The Law and Policy of Biofuels Yves Le Bouthillier, Annette Cowie, Paul Martin, Heather McLeod-Kilmurray, 2016-05-27 In the last twenty years the biofuels industry has developed rapidly in many regions of the world This timely book provides an in depth and critical study of the law and policies in many of the key biofuels producing countries such as Brazil China and the US as well as the EU and a number of other countries where this industry is quickly developing Drawing on a range of disciplines the contributors examine the roles of the public and private sectors in the governance of biofuels They discuss topics such as sustainability and biofuels and provide a critical review of regulatory regimes for biofuels They conclude by proposing recommendations for more effective and efficient biofuel policies Academics working in the area of renewable energy and students in environmental law will find this book to be of interest It will also be of use to policy makers around the world looking to learn from various existing regimes Contributors G Berndes M Brand o A
