Blumenfeld-Jones, 2022-04-12 This book addresses the crucial issue of how we value and deploy the idea of freedom that underlies contemporary curriculum studies Whether we are conventional curriculum thinkers who value knowledge development or favor a Deweyan individualist orientation toward curriculum or are a critical social justice curriculum thinker at the heart of all these orientations and theorizing is the value of freedom The book addresses freedom through novel sources the work of Martin Buber on education Julia Kristeva on the uses of imagination and the female male dialectic Emmanuel Levinas unique approach to ethics and more Readers will find new ways to understand freedom and the world of ethical life as informing curriculum thinking It provides a more ecumenical vision that can draw our differences together It helps readers to reconsider ourselves in fruitful ways that can bring more relevance and substance to the field

Celtic Music and Dance in Cornwall Lea Hagmann, 2021-10-07 Focusing on the Cornish Music and Dance Revival this book investigates the revivalists' claims about Cornwall's cultural distinctiveness and Celtic heritage both of which are presently used as arguments to promote the English county's political status as an independent Celtic nation. The author describes two different revival movements that aim at reviving Cornwall's culture but seem to have entirely different ideas about the concept of authentic Celtic Cornish music and dance. In the first part historical sources connect Cornwall to its Celtic roots with an analysis of how the early Cornish revivalists used, changed and adapted this material during the 1980s in order to create a Celtic Cornish revival corpus. In the second part the book addresses the desire of the Cornish people to express their local and Celtic identities through music and dance and various practices musicians and dancers have developed to do so. The Nos Lowen movement which started in the year 2000 is important in this study because it has expanded and newly interpreted the concepts of traditional Celtic and authentic.

Thinking About History Sarah Maza, 2017-09-18 What distinguishes history as a discipline from other fields of study? That's the animating question of Sarah Maza's Thinking About History, a general introduction to the field of history that revels in its eclecticism and highlights the inherent tensions and controversies that shape it. Designed for the classroom, Thinking About History is organized around big questions: Whose history do we write and how does that affect what stories get told and how they are told? How did we come to view the nation as the inevitable context for history and what happens when we move outside those boundaries? What is the relation among popular, academic and public history and how should we evaluate sources? What is the difference between description and interpretation and how do we balance them? Maza provides choice examples in place of definitive answers and the result is a book that will spark classroom discussion and offer students a view of history as a vibrant, ever-changing field of inquiry that is thoroughly relevant to our daily lives.
