Writing our own Just So Stories : The So What Stories

How did the leopard get its spots? How come the snake doesn't have any legs? And why doesn't the ostrich fly anyway? Can you explain it all?

Just like Rudyard Kipling, you will be writing your own story using animals to explain a natural occurrence. Begin by selecting a dynamic character and a static character (2 animals in this case) and develop a plot around them.

Dynamic Character_____ Static Character _____

Step I: Think about your characters. What do they look like, how do they act? What questions from nature can be explained by them?

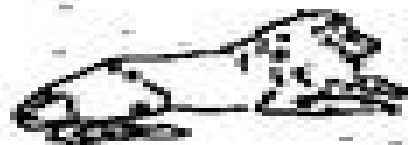

Question: _____

Step II: Complete a plot line. Start with the exposition...then the climax and resolution...then go back and fill in the details. What type of conflict will arise?

Step III: Create a character sketch. Using the methods of characterization, write a description of each character. Include dialogue and figurative language.

Step IV: Write a rough draft. Then find someone to listen as you read it...does it make sense? Make observations and corrections.

Step V: Publish! Type your story, add illustrations or clip art. Print and be ready to share on _____!
