Quiz 1

2019-2020: Reproductive Characteristics, and a few vital and important structures and functions within human body, at different reproductive levels (e.g., systems, tissues, cells, organelles).

1. Mediated in a certain and coordinated way by receptors, hormones, and cells, this provides the normally female assigned functions relating to the receptor. One immediate result of having this mechanism might be a disruption in the following:

- the body to produce reproductive cells

2. In the humans, animals, including the feeding dogs and cats get goose bumps. One cold day, these goose bumps cause their coats to expand (creating a layer of insulation). If the animal is in a hot area, the coat will also expand making the animal more susceptible to overheating. These responses can be an example of:

- altruistic reactions
- learned behaviors
- deflection and response to stimuli
- reproductive and feeding success

3. When the human body is responding to stress, the hormone adrenaline is released. A short time later, the body returns to normal. This is an example of homeostasis because:

- death occurs immediately
- developmental variation in body cells
- maintains cellular organization
