Local Raw Material Sourcing In China:

Local Raw Material Sourcing in China Jonny Phung, 2014-10-08 Master's Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject Business economics Supply Production Logistics grade A Tongji University language English abstract In today's highly competitive and dynamic environment a company's success is based on the performance of its supply chains. Single companies become part of a supply chain by concentrating on its core activities and source capabilities not belonging to its core competence. The importance of the company's supply base has increased immensely. China is becoming the economic engine of the world's economy. In the early 1980s international companies entered the Chinese market to take part of the country's elusively growth and tried to gain edge. Focusing on the automotive industry original equipment manufacturer started to assemble cars from complete knocked down CKD and semi knocked down SKD kits in manufacturing sites in China. Driven by high import duties and legal requirement set by the Chinese government OEMs started to produce locally for the domestic market encouraging their existing supply chain to build up transfer plants in geographic proximity of their manufacturing site. Supply chains in automotive industry are divided in tiers depending on their degree of value creation of the complete products. 1st Tier suppliers themselves encouraging their supplier to set up transfer plants in China. The decision to take the existing supply chain result of long term process to enable a supplier for the automotive supply chain. In 2008 China became the largest single country automotive market overwhelming the US market. Increasing price pressure and matured domestic market led to a localization trend within the automotive supply chain to exploit cost advantage by sourcing locally. Therefore supply bases have to be established by assessing companies to be potential supplier. Suppliers create more than 70% of the total value of the final product resulting in high importance of having excellent supplier. Raw mat

Supply Chain-Based Category Strategies for Global Supply Networks Nikos Moraitakis, 2017-07-26 From a supply chain perspective often big differences exist between global raw material suppliers approaches to supply their respective local markets. The progressing complexity of large centrally managed global supply networks and their often unknown upstream ramifications increase the likelihood of undetected bottlenecks and inefficiencies. It is therefore necessary to develop an approach to strategically master the upstream complexity of such networks from a holistic perspective in order to align regional competitive priorities and supply chain structures. The research is set in the context of polyamide engineering thermoplastics in the automotive industry. Based on an initial industry analysis and a literature review a conceptual framework is developed. The framework is matched with existing empirical and theoretical literature as well as multiple case study analyses in the relevant supply market and a centrally managed global supply network. As a result strategic group theory is transferred into the supply network management context to allow for the consideration of upstream supply chain structures in the category strategy development process. The proposed approach introduces strategic groups of supply chains as a segmentation criterion for complex global supply networks which enables the network wide alignment of competitive priorities flexibility requirements and partnerships with suppliers Supply chain based category strategies can effectively reduce the complexity firms are facing in this context The results of this research are applicable for certain types of global supply networks and can be used for network alignment and strategy development The approach can furthermore generate valuable insights useable for negotiation support with suppliers

International Construction Management Igor Martek,2022-02-07 This book tells you everything you need to know about international construction the companies their markets the types of projects they build how they compete and operate and how it affects us all It paints a comprehensive portrait of an overlooked global business that generates a major portion of the GDP in every developed nation As with any mature sector countries make efforts to export their expertise but the competition in construction is fierce and the risks are many Only the leanest and meanest survive What then does it take to win Most writing on construction focuses at the project management level or even more narrowly at the level of technical performance This book presents the big picture it tells you what successful international construction companies do to stay in the game and thrive The book examines international construction through three lenses The first is theory The body of existing knowledge on construction is here brought together condensed and explained The second are the actors The companies that lead the way in global construction are showcased and the features that make countries desirable hosts are appraised Finally what is it that firms actually do This last part delves into the various strategic approaches taken by 60 construction firms in carving out and defending an overseas market niche The insights provide guidance on how global construction companies develop competitive advantage and stay resilient in the face of a mercurial global economy These lessons will be of interest to the student and manager alike

Vernacular Industrialism in China Eugenia Lean,2020-03-17 In early twentieth century China Chen Diexian 1879 1940 was a maverick entrepreneur at once a prolific man of letters and captain of industry a magazine editor and cosmetics magnate He tinkered with chemistry in his private studio used local cuttlefish to source magnesium carbonate and published manufacturing tips in how to columns In a rapidly changing society Chen copied foreign technologies and translated manufacturing processes from abroad to produce adaptations of global commodities that bested foreign brands Engaging in the worlds of journalism industry and commerce he drew on literati practices associated with late imperial elites but deployed them in novel ways within a culture of educated tinkering that generated industrial innovation Through the lens of Chen s career Eugenia Lean explores how unlikely individuals devised unconventional homegrown approaches to industry and science in early twentieth century China She contends that Chen s activities exemplify vernacular industrialism the pursuit of industry and science outside of conventional venues often involving ad hoc forms of knowledge and material work

Lean shows how vernacular industrialists accessed worldwide circuits of law and science and experimented with local and global processes of manufacturing to navigate innovate and compete in global capitalism In doing so they presaged the approach that has helped fuel China's economic ascent in the twenty first century Rather than conventional narratives that depict China as belatedly borrowing from Western technology Vernacular Industrialism in China offers a new understanding of industrialization going beyond material factors to show the central role of culture and knowledge production in technological and industrial change

China Yadong Luo, 2000-11-30 China is the largest emerging market in the world yet Western MNCs have invested significantly less there than their Asian MNC counterparts Luo systematically compares Western and Asian investment strategies and their performance in China and draws lessons that Westerners must heed He compares Western and Asian MNCs on their respective economic rationales cultural proximity strategy behavior investment structure business determinants and performance differences He also reviews foreign direct investment in China over two decades outlines the economic environment facing MNCs today delineates new policies that affect foreign investment and operations and discusses China's entry into the World Trade Organization and the impact this will have on MNCs everywhere. The result is a needed contribution to the literature on international investment and the China market particularly for upper level executives, analysts studying emerging markets and scholars specializing in international business and expansion. In Part I Luo reviews the experience of MNCs in China and the opportunities and challenges today and in coming years. In Part II he looks at the strategy, structure and performances of Western and Asian MNCs. He assesses and compares strategic and structural behaviors of these two groups of MNCs, then deciphers and compares the differences in distinctive capabilities and their performance implications. In other chapters he examines and compares financial performance and its business determinants, thus giving executives of Western MNCs a way to verify the effectiveness of their own investment and operating strategies and to reconfigure them if necessary to include environmental dynamics and organizational capabilities. In addition to mini cases throughout the book, there is an appendix consisting of six major case studies detailing the experiences and successes of six Asian MNCs in China, offering a seldom seen glimpse of how the West's Asian competitors accomplish their own goals and why the challenges they present to the West are so formidable.

China's Economic Dilemmas in the 1990s The Joint Economic Committee, 2016-09-16. Most students of contemporary China are familiar with the Joint Economic Committee studies on China which have appeared periodically since 1967. This is the most recent study in the series released in April 1991. This volume follows the format of the previous studies, offering a broad sweep of its subject matter. The 50 chapters contributed by Chinese scholars in government universities and private research centres are divided into five major parts. Each section begins with an overview which summarises and comments on the main points in each of the chapters. The volume offers a detailed examination of China's economy and the political and social factors currently facing the leadership in Beijing.

China Mark Norcliffe, 2006. Researched and written by the Head of the International Department of the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, this in depth report analyses the trends and prospects for the automotive industry in China. It provides an authoritative market overview and analysis of market data, trends, economic climate, government policy, geographical factors. It then looks in detail at the Passenger Car Sector, the Commercial Vehicle Sector and the Components Sector, in each case providing analysis of key players, their operations, market share, strategies, likely future successes and failures. Finally, the report assesses China's automotive industry from a comparative global perspective.
