Management Competency for Physical Activity Education and Sport Earle F. Zeigler, Gary W. Bowie, 2007-08-24 The introduction of this combined text and laboratory workbook with its tear out sheets on which to complete specific experiences is a first in the field It can be employed either by itself or in connection with a standard text that has limited or no practical exercises included If desirable also the instructor could amplify what is offered here by the addition of other laboratory experiences developed from the listing in Part I of well over 100 desirable experiences under the five broad categories included A comprehensive analysis of management science literature indicated the need to introduce a step by step plan for management skill or competency attainment In doing so the authors built on Katz s Harvard tripartite categorization of skills and expanded it to five subdivisions so as to cover also the personal attributes needed by the prospective manager as well as those conjoined skills gained through a combinatorial process that the individual is required to employ on the job What Katz calls human skills we now call interpersonal skills so as to distinguish this category from personal skills No 1 below These subdivisions or categories are therefore as follows 1 Personal skills or developing one s own individual competencies prior to concentrating of the managerial task 2 Interpersonal skills or acquiring the skills needed to influence people positively to work toward accomplishment of organizational objectives and goals 3 Conceptual skills or learning to formulate ideas and plans while on the job as a manager 4 Technical skills or acquiring the various skills and techniques needed to cope with the various organizational details and problems that arise 5 Conjoined skills or developing the various managerial skills in some combination or proportion to achieve both immediate and long range objectives and goals Granting that Katz s categories of human interpersonal as we call it conceptual and technical managerial skills along with our additional subdivisions of so called personal and conjoined skills are not mutually exclusive this plan enables the teacher and the students to move selectively from theory to practice within each of the five categories described The method for working toward the achievement of the specific competencies or skills is 1 through the provision of statements describing the objectives of the modules used to develop the competencies 2 to offer knowledge statements introducing the trainee to the theoretic bases of the competencies and their roles and functions in the management process and 3 by recommending selected laboratory exercises for achieving a degree of success at least based on involvement in a variety of problem solving experiences After the student comprehends the problem to be met or solved a questioning process determines 1 what needs to be known 2 where this information may be obtained 3 how to organize the actual learning experience 4 what the probable result will be and 5 how to evaluate the level of competency attainment where such is possible The teaching and learning process employed by the instructor is designed therefore to include a variety of laboratory experiences The tear out sheets for each laboratory experience are to be completed and handed in as indicated by the course instructor In addition to standard lecture and discussion techniques that we assume will be included by the instructor other learning devices available can include use of the case method role playing independent study interaction with a personal computer elementary theory formulation response to questionnaires and self testing devices individual projects small discussion groups etc When the instructor wishes and there is class time available he or she can introduce action or applied research based independent investigation e g survey game theory debates internship experiences panels forums and so forth Basically a fivefold learning process is recommended This process employs three steps 1 understanding of the objective of the learning experience module 2 reading and comprehension of a knowledge statement or lecturette about the particular skill involved and 3 skill learning through analysis and practice Thus the instructor can 1 assess initial student status 2 introduce selected experiences to strengthen areas of possible weakness and subsequently 3 evaluate competency attainment Handbook of Hospice Policies and Procedures Marilyn D. Harris, Elissa Della Monica, Pamela Boyd, 1999 PART OF THE NEW JONES BARTLETT LEARNING INFORMATION SYSTEMS SECURITY ASSURANCE SERIES Security Strategies in Linux Platforms and Applications covers every major aspect of security on a Linux system Written by an industry expert this book is divided into three natural parts to illustrate key concepts in the field It opens with a discussion on the risks threats and vulnerabilities associated with Linux as an operating system using examples from Red Hat Enterprise Linux and Ubuntu Part 2 discusses how to take advantage of the layers of security available to Linux user and group options filesystems and security options for important services as well as the security modules associated with AppArmor and SELinux The book closes with a look at the use of both open source and proprietary tools when building a layered security strategy for Linux operating system environments Using real world examples and exercises this useful resource incorporates hands on activities to walk students through the fundamentals of security strategies related to the Linux system The Event Safety Guide Event Safety Alliance, 2014-02-04 The premier safety guidebook for anyone working in the event industry The Event Safety Guide is the United States first published safety guidance directed specifically at the live event industry Culled from existing life safety standards and the insight of top professionals within the event industry The Event Safety Guide compiles the best operational practices currently available in the live event industry in a single easily referenced manual The guide is not a how to book or a complicated set of standards Rather it is intended to help busy industry professionals know what safe workplace practices might be heighten their understanding of the importance of safety in everything they do and apply these best practices in their daily work Designed for field use The Event Safety Guide is categorically organized and written in straightforward and easily understood language Thirty nine chapters and five appendixes address a broad range of subjects relevant to most events including emergency planning weather preparedness and fire safety as well as specific technical issues such as pyrotechnics rigging and temporary staging Included appendixes provide additional resources including helpful planning checklists and information on the National Incident Management System NIMS Incident Command System ICS All referenced standards are thoroughly cited within the text to ensure readers know precisely where to turn for additional information Whether you re a seasoned veteran or just starting out in the event industry you ll find The Event Safety Guide to be an indispensable reference when planning your next event Handbook of Research on Discrete Event Simulation Environments: Technologies and Applications Abu-Taieh, Evon M.
