Applying Dialogic Pedagogy Cynthia Z. Cohen, 2018-08-15 Recent academic research criticizes the effectiveness of traditional lecturing methods and instead shows the pedagogical effectiveness of active learning methods especially discussion based education Drawing on the dialogic writings of Bakhtin Freire and Habermas this study reviews the five primary themes cited in active learning research improvements in student concentration socialization in disciplinary norms scaffolding towards higher critical thinking inclusion of non traditional learning styles and reduction of student absenteeism Testing these findings in a discussion based undergraduate college education classroom this study finds significant improvements towards higher critical thinking skills increased student concentration and reduced student absenteeism However the study finds questionable effectiveness of discussion based teaching for socializing undergraduate college education students in disciplinary norms

Mathematical and Statistics Anxiety: Educational, Social, Developmental and Cognitive Perspectives Kinga Morsanyi, Irene Cristina Mammarella, Denes Szűcs, Carlo Tomasetto, Caterina Primi, Erin Anne Maloney, 2017-01-19 Mathematical anxiety is a feeling of tension apprehension or fear which arises when a person is faced with mathematical content The negative consequences of mathematical anxiety are well documented Students with high levels of mathematical anxiety might underperform in important test situations they tend to hold negative attitudes towards mathematics and they are likely to opt out of elective mathematics courses which also affects their career opportunities. Although at the university level many students do not continue to study mathematics, social science students are confronted with the fact that their disciplines involve learning about statistics, another potential source of anxiety for students who are uncomfortable with dealing with numerical content. Research on mathematical anxiety is a truly interdisciplinary field with contributions from educational, developmental, cognitive, social, and neuroscience researchers. The current collection of papers demonstrates the diversity of the field, offering both new empirical contributions and reviews of existing studies. The contributors also outline future directions for this line of research.

Specifications Grading 2.0 Linda B. Nilson, Joseph A. Packowski, 2025-09-15. This second edition of the alternative grading classic revisits specs grading with a robust body of research exemplars and strategies to elevate the quality of student work, increase engagement, and buy in, reduce faculty stress, and cultivate students' career competencies. Nilson and Packowski present the unique characteristics of the specs grading schema, all of which simplify faculty decision making, reduce antagonism between the evaluator and the evaluated, and increase student receptivity to meaningful feedback, thus facilitating a mutually beneficial, rigorous learning process. Used consistently over time, specs grading can restore credibility to grades by demonstrating and making transparent to all stakeholders the learning outcomes that students achieve. This book features five new chapters stemming from firsthand accounts of dozens of instructors actively using specs grading and new material in six of the remaining eight chapters. It lays out the surprisingly simple transition process, positioning specs grading as the most viable and easy-to-use system available to faculty.
