Ends of Empire Jodi Kim, 2004 Ends of Empire examines Asian American cultural production and its challenge to the dominant understanding of American imperialism, Cold War dynamics, and race and gender formation. Jodi Kim demonstrates the degree to which Asian American literature and film critique the record of U.S. imperial violence in Asia and provides a glimpse into the imperial and gendered racial logic of the Cold War. She unfolds this particularly entangled and enduring episode in the history of U.S. global hegemony, one that contrary to leading interpretations of the Cold War as a simple bipolar rivalry, was significantly triangulated in Asia. The Asian American works analyzed here constitute a crucial body of what Kim reveals as transnational Cold War compositions, which are at once a geopolitical structuring, an ideological writing, and a cultural imagining. Arguing that these works reframe the U.S. Cold War as a project of gendered racial formation and imperialism, as well as a production of knowledge, Ends of Empire offers an interdisciplinary investigation into the transnational dimensions of Asian America and its critical relationship to Cold War history.

The Children of 1965 Min Hyung Song, 2013-04-15 Since the 1990s, a new cohort of Asian American writers has garnered critical and popular attention. Many of its members are the children of Asians who came to the United States after the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1965 lifted long-standing restrictions on immigration. This new generation encompasses writers as diverse as the graphic novelists Adrian Tomine and Gene Luen Yang, the short story writer Nam Le, and the poet Cathy Park Hong. Having scrutinized more than one hundred works by emerging Asian American authors and having interviewed several of these writers, Min Hyung Song argues that collectively these works push against existing ways of thinking about race, even as they demonstrate how race can facilitate creativity.

Some of the writers eschew their identification as ethnic writers while others embrace it as a means of tackling the uncertainty that many people feel about the near future In the literature that they create a number of the writers that Song discusses take on pressing contemporary matters such as demographic change environmental catastrophe and the widespread sense that the United States is in national decline A Collection of Collections John F. Perspectives on Mutual Dependency in Care-Giving Adéla Souralová, 2016-03-09 Many scholars see caregiving relationships as being based on mutual dependency or interdependency Extensively cited notions of the global care chain or international division of reproductive labour have prepared the ground for analysis of global interdependencies in several domains This book goes further by taking mutual dependency as a starting point for analysing all relationships Using the example of Vietnamese families in the Czech Republic and the Czech native nannies it shows how paid caregiving is contextualized in terms of various relationships between three types of actors employer employee caring for the child and mother child All of these ties are based on ontologically different principles and each of them operates as a piece of a puzzle which is meaningful only in relation to each other Souralov considers caregiving to be a formative activity that establishes ties between the concerned actors whose subjectivities are mutually shaped in the daily practice of caregiving With its stress on mutuality in care work this ground breaking book illuminates the new forms of interpersonal interethnic and intergenerational relationships and highlights the mechanisms and processes in which kinship ties are negotiated and reproduced Thirteen Ways of Looking at the Novel Jane Smiley, 2005 The author celebrates the art of fiction as she looks at one hundred very different examples of the novel ranging from the classics to little known gems and discusses the evolution of the novel and the practice of novel writing

Of Rice and Men Richard Galli, 2007-12-18 Spreading democracy takes more than cutting edge military hardware Winning the hearts and minds of a troubled nation is a special mission we give to bewildered young soldiers who can't speak the native language don't know the customs can't tell friends from enemies and in this wonderfully outrageous Iraq era novel about Vietnam wonder why they have to risk their lives spraying peanut plants inoculating pigs and hauling miracle rice seed for Ho Chi Minh Brash eye opening and surprisingly comic Of Rice and Men displays the same irreverent spirit as the black comedy classics Catch 22 and MASH as it chronicles the American Army's little known Civil Affairs soldiers who courageously roam hostile war zones not to kill or to destroy but to build to feed and to heal Unprepared uncertain and naive they find it impossible to make the skeptical population fall in love with them But it's thrilling to watch them try Among the unforgettable characters Guy Lopaca an inept Army trained interpreter who can barely say I can't speak Vietnamese in Vietnamese but has no trouble chatting with stray dogs and water buffalo Guy's friends include Virgin Mary Crocker a pragmatic nurse earning a fortune spending nights with homesick soldiers Paul Gianelli a heroic builder of medical clinics who doesn't want to be remembered badly so he never goes home and Tyler DeMudge whose cure for every problem is a chilly martini a patch of shade and the theory that every bad event in life is good training for enduring it again Pricelessly funny disarming thought provoking as fresh as the morning headlines and bursting with humor affection and pride Of Rice and Men is a sincere tribute to those young men and women thrust into our hearts and minds wars who try to do absolute good in a hopeless situation From the Hardcover edition     Ethnicity in College Anna M. Ortiz, Silvia J. Santos, 2023-07-03 This book explores the importance and construction of ethnic identity among college students and how ethnicity interfaces with students interactions on campus and the communities in which they live Based on qualitative interviews with White Latina o African American and Asian students it captures both the college context and the individual experiences students have with their ethnicity through the immediacy of the students own voices The authors observe how students negotiate their ethnic identity within the process of becoming adults They identify the influences of family the importance of socio historical forces that surround students educational experiences and the critical role of peers in students ethnic identity development While research has begun to document the positive outcomes associated with diverse learning environments this study emphasizes and more closely delineates just how these outcomes come to be In addition the study reveals how the freedom to express and develop ethnic identity which multicultural environments ideally support promotes student confidence and achievement in ways which students themselves can articulate This work is distinctive in eschewing an ethnic minority perspective through which Whites are the primary reference group and the standard from which all ethnic and racial identity processes evolve as well as in considering the influences that growing up in a multi ethnic context may have on ethnic identity processes particularly where the other is not White This perspective is particularly important at a time when students entering universities are more likely to come from highly segregated high school environments and will confront ethnic and social differences for the first time in college This book is intended as a resource for researchers and practitioners in psychology and higher education It offers insights for student affairs and higher education administrators and leaders about the ways in which their campus policies and practices can positively influence the development of more supportive campus climates that draw on the strengths of each ethnic group to create an overarching pluralistic culture It can also serve as a cultural diversity text for upper division or graduate courses on pluralism Moreover understanding students ethnic identity their personal growth and adjustment to college it is central to preparing individuals for life in a pluralistic society     I Am Pol Pot Steve Otto, 2009-01-12 The 1970s brought us the turbulence of the Vietnam War and its protest by students and youth who where un willing to fight for a cause that seemed unsinkable and useless When President Richard Nixon spread the Vietnam War to Kampuchea called Cambodia today he not only caused outrage and protest at home including the Kent State Ohio massacres but he also threw Kampuchea into a state of civil war His inept handling of the situation brought about one of the strangest social experiment of the 20th Century Pol Pot ruled through a committee known for the first year only as the Ankar organization His name was not even spoken to
