Ib Geography Past Papers 2012:

Microfinance and Financial Inclusion Eugenia Macchiavello, 2017-07-20 Following the recent global financial crisis there is a growing interest in alternative finance and microfinance in particular as new instruments for providing financial services in a socially responsible way or as an alternative to traditional banking. Nonetheless correspondingly there is also a lack of clarity about how to regulate alternative financial methods particularly in light of the financial crisis lessons on regulatory failure and shadow banking's risks. This book considers microfinance from a legal and regulatory perspective. Microfinance is the provision of a wide range of financial services particularly credit but also remittances savings to low income people or financially excluded people. It combines a business structure with social inspiration often resorts to technological innovations to lower costs. Fintech e.g. crowdfunding and mobile banking and merges with traditional local experiences e.g. financial cooperatives and Islamic finance this further complicating the regulatory picture. The book describes some of the unique dimensions of microfinance and the difficulties that this can cause for regulators through a comparative analysis of selected European Union (EU) countries' regimes. The focus is in fact on the EU legal framework with some references to certain developing world experiences where relevant. The book assesses the impact and validity of current financial regulation principles and rules in light of the most recent developments and trends in financial regulation in the wake of the financial crisis and compares microfinance with traditional banking. The book puts forward policy recommendations for regulators and policy makers to help address the challenges and opportunities offered by microfinance.

Geographers of the Ancient Greek World: Volume 2 D. Graham J. Shipley, 2024-04-18 Ancient Greek geographical writing is represented not just by the surviving works of the well known authors Strabo Pausanias and Ptolemy but also by many other texts dating from the Archaic to the Late Antique period. Most of these texts are however hard for non specialists to find and many have never been translated into English. This volume the work of an international team of experts presents the most important thirty six texts in new accurate translations. In addition there are explanatory notes and authoritative introductions to each text which offer a new understanding of the individual writings and demonstrate their importance no longer marginal but in the mainstream of Greek literature and science. The book includes twenty eight newly drawn maps images of the medieval manuscripts in which most of these works survive and a full Introduction providing a comprehensive survey of the field of Greek and Roman geography.

The International Relations of the Contemporary Middle East Tareq Y. Ismael,Glenn E. Perry,2013-10-01 The Middle East a few decades ago was seen to be an autonomous subsystem of the global international political system More recently the region has been subordinated to the hegemony of a singular superpower the US bolstered by an alliance with Israel and a network of Arab client states The subordination of the contemporary Middle East has resulted in large part from the disappearance of countervailing forces for example global bipolarity that for a while allowed the Arab world in particular to exercise a modicum of flexibility in shaping its international relations The aspirations of the indigenous population of the Middle East have been stifled by the dynamics of the unequal global power relationships and domestic politics of the countries of the region are regularly subordinated to the prerogatives of international markets and the strategic competition of the great powers Employing the concept of imperialism defined as a pattern of alliances between a center rulers in the Center developed country and a center client regime in the Periphery underdeveloped country as an overall framework to analyse the subordination of the region this book is essential reading for students and scholars of the Middle East International Relations and Politics in general

Troubles of the past? James W. McAuley,Máire Braniff,Graham Spencer,2023-02-14 This collection brings together academics and practitioners to consider the increasingly central role that memory and recalling the past plays in determining contemporary politics and the future direction of Northern Irish society Using theoretical comparative and case study approaches it considers not only how narratives of the past are constructed reconstructed understood and commemorated but also the ways in which the key themes that emerge are harnessed and mobilised to political and social effect in the present The book draws deeply on a wide range of expert opinion and viewpoints to add significantly to existing knowledge surrounding the debates over memory and the ways it is used in Northern Irish society

Geopolitics and Development Marcus Power, 2019-01-25 Geopolitics and Development examines the historical emergence of development as a form of governmentality from the end of empire to the Cold War and the War on Terror It illustrates the various ways in which the meanings and relations of development as a discourse an apparatus and an aspiration have been geopolitically imagined and enframed The book traces some of the multiple historical associations between development and diplomacy and seeks to underline the centrality of questions of territory security statehood and sovereignty to the pursuit of development along with its enrolment in various bordering practices In making a case for greater attention to the evolving nexus between geopolitics and development and with particular reference to Africa the book explores the historical and contemporary geopolitics of foreign aid the interconnections between development and counterinsurgency the role of the state and social movements in reimagining development the rise of re-emerging donors like China India and Brazil and the growing significance of South-South flows of investment trade and development cooperation Drawing on post-colonial and postdevelopment approaches and on some of the author's own original empirical research this is an essential critical and interdisciplinary analysis of the complex and dynamic political geographies of global development Primarily intended for scholars and postgraduate students in development studies human geography African studies and international relations this book provides an engaging invaluable and up-to-date resource for making sense of the complex entanglement between geopolitics and development past and present

The Geography of Greece Régis Darques, George Sidiropoulos, Kostas Kalabokidis, 2024-02-22 During the last few years Greece has become a subject of increasing attention worldwide Once praised for its ability to innovate and reform during the EU integration process applauded for its remarkable job in managing the 2004 Olympics the country fell into a financial crisis of unprecedented magnitude in 2008 Much has been said on this matter and amid the morass of information a staggering number of untruths have been disseminated In fact the challenges of vulnerability and the paradigms of adaptation go way beyond finance and economy in Greece Mega fires earthquakes landslides and floods migrations sociopolitical upheavals and armed conflicts generate emergency situations repeatedly Because of its bridging role between natural and social sciences geography can provide insights into the entire breadth of hazardous and chaotic events driving adaptation and change Against all these threats Greece has developed an enhanced resilience capacity The purpose of this book is to help unravel the complexities of a fascinating country beyond clichés This book is intended for students researchers scholars and engineers interested in geography land planning urban studies and environmental management The crises issue intended as a guideline allows widening the audience to include the media governmental and non-governmental agencies and the public at large

European Products Gisela Welz, 2015-09-01 On the Mediterranean island of Cyprus rural villages traditional artefacts even atmospheres and experiences are considered heritage Heritage making not only protects but also produces things people and places Since the Republic of Cyprus joined the European Union in 2004 heritage making and Europeanization are increasingly intertwined in Greek Cypriot society Against the backdrop of a long-term ethnographic engagement the author argues that heritage emerges as an increasingly standardized economic resource a European product Implemented in historic preservation rural tourism culinary traditions nature protection and urban restoration projects heritage policy has become infused with transnational market regulations and neoliberal property regimes

Women, Migration and Gendered Experiences Ermira Danaj, 2022-03-09 This open access book focuses on

Albanian internal and international female migration and places gender at the heart of postsocialist transformation It explores the vulnerabilities that arise for female citizens from the contradictory policies produced by the Albanian state By illuminating the intersection of gender and migration it shows how Albanian women are likely to embed themselves in complex social relations and migration trajectories By focusing on various cases internal international return economic and student female migrants the book underlines that migration does not follow any kind of evolutionary development according to which women go from traditional to modern gender relations By providing a compelling account on the complex negotiations and tactics women employ to deal with gender inequalities this book leads to a better understanding of gender and migration entanglements It is a useful read to students academics in migration and gender studies as well as social scientists and policy makers in European countries

Bihar and Mithila J. Albert Rorabacher, 2016-09-13 The world has become obsessed with the Western notions of progress development and globalization the latter a form of human and economic homogenization These processes through the aegis of the United Nations are comparatively monitored Those nations deemed to be lagging behind are then provided with foreign aid and developmental assistance For nearly seventy years India has sought its place in this global endeavour yet even today abject poverty and backwardness can be observed in districts in almost every state with the highest concentration of such districts found in the state of Bihar and a cultural enclave known as Mithila Development in India has been elusive because it is difficult to define and because the Western concepts of development and progress have no absolute equivalents within many non Western settings As a consequence development programmes often fail because they are unable to ask the right questions but equally important is the political economy derived from foreign aid For politicians there is no long term benefit to be derived from successful development In general foreign aid only serves to corrupt governments and politicians and in the end does very little for those who need help The struggling states of Bihar and Mithila serve as extreme examples of India's problems Development here has been thwarted by a hereditary landed aristocracy supported by religion casteism custom social stratification tradition and patterns of behaviour that can be traced back millennia In turn all these have been masterfully manipulated by co-opted politicians who have turned politics into a veritable art form as this volume comprehensively demonstrates

The European Union and the Geopolitics of the Arctic Andreas Rasputnik, 2018-01-26 The Arctic is a region that has seen exponential growth as a space of geopolitical interest over the past decade This insightful book is the first to analyse the European Union's Arctic policy endeavours of the early 21st Century from a critical geopolitical perspective

societies and provide an overview of the current political economic and societal situation and challenges in both regions The book presents the similarities and differences between both de facto states with regard to a set of guidelines legitimacy power relations transformation of politics and society It provides empirical explanations and contributes to a better understanding of both de facto states

Researching Biology and Evolution in the Gulf States Jörg Matthias Determann, 2015-08-25 Officials and religious scholars in the Gulf states have repeatedly banned the teaching of the theory of evolution because of its association with atheism But Jörg Matthias Determann argues here that despite official prohibition research on biological evolution has flourished due in large part to the development of academic and professional networks This book traces these networks through the history of various branches of biology including botany conservation research ornithology and palaeontology Typical of rentier societies some of the scientific networks in this region consist of vertical patron client relationships For example those in power who are interested in wildlife conservation have been known to offer patronage to biologists working on desert ecology However just as important are the horizontal links between scientists both within the Gulf region and beyond Given the strengths and importance of these two forms of professional networks Determann argues that we should look at the Arab world as an area interconnected with global science and therefore fully integrated into the scientific and technological advances being pioneered worldwide

Globalized Authoritarianism

Koenraad Bogaert, 2018-03-20 A rich investigation into Morocco's urban politics Over the past thirty years Morocco's cities have transformed dramatically To take just one example Casablanca's medina is now obscured behind skyscrapers that are funded by global capital and encouraged by Morocco's monarchy which hopes to transform this city into a regional leader of finance and commerce Such changes have occurred throughout Morocco Megaprojects are redesigning the cityscapes of Rabat Tangiers and Casablanca turning the nation's urban centers into laboratories of capital accumulation political dominance and social control In Globalized Authoritarianism Koenraad Bogaert links more abstract questions of government globalization and neoliberalism with concrete changes in the city Bogaert goes deep beneath the surface of Morocco's urban prosperity to reveal how neoliberal government and the increased connectivity engendered by global capitalism transformed Morocco's leading urban spaces opening up new sites for capital accumulation creating enormous class divisions and enabling new innovations in state authoritarianism Analyzing these transformations he argues that economic globalization does not necessarily lead to increased democratization but to authoritarianism with a different face to a form of authoritarian government that becomes more and more a globalized affair Showing how Morocco's experiences have helped produce new forms of globalization Bogaert offers a bridge between in depth issues of Middle Eastern studies and broader questions of power class and capital as they continue to evolve in the twenty first century
