

Frindle Teacher Guide

Chapter 1: Nick

What type of person is Nick? Use details from the story to support your answer. D.3

Nick likes to stir up trouble with his teachers and test boundaries. Nick is mischievous because of his antics turning his third grade classroom into a tropical island. Nick also played a prank on Mrs. Granger when he was making baseballs in the classroom. His pranks could be considered harmless by the students because they do not have a real victim. Nick's classmates look up to him because he is bold enough to pull his pranks.

How are you like Nick? Give an example of what you have in common. How are you different from Nick? Give an example showing how you are different.

Answers vary.

Chapter 2: Mrs. Granger

What type of person is Mrs. Granger? What is life like for her fifth-grade students? D.3

Mrs. Granger is intimidating because of her stern attitude. The author tells readers that Mrs. Granger has perfect attendance, suggesting her dedication to her work. She also is an older teacher, suggesting she has been working at this school for quite some time and is well known by the teachers and staff. Mrs. Granger is a stickler for the rules. She goes to great lengths to teach her students a lesson when they are caught chewing gum.

The author states that Mrs. Granger has a monopoly in fifth grade. All students in fifth grade must have Mrs. Granger for language arts, hinting that there is no way to escape or avoid her. Having Mrs. Granger as a teacher is treated like a right-of-passage.

How does the author describe what Mrs. Granger looks like? What words and phrases does he use to help readers picture Mrs. Granger in their minds? D.4

The author describes Mrs. Granger's hair as a nest on the back of her head, hinting to a bun. Mrs. Granger is a petite woman who rarely takes off her suit jacket. This fact implies Mrs. Granger is not easily frustrated.

Mrs. Granger's eyes are her most important feature. They seem to have a power over the students – one day they frighten and overwhelm, and other days they sparkle in humor.
